PREFACE

The first volume of the Catalogue dealt with the Persian Poets from Firdau 1 the founder of the 1 pic down to Hafiz the perfecter of the Lyric – The period thus covered extended from the 11th to the 14th century

The pre-cut volume includes the works of the leading poets of Iran Turan and Hindustan who flourished during the 19th and 16th centuries of the Christian I ra

The former volume concluded with an account of one who is universally regarded as the greatest of the poets of Iran and I have thought it fitting that the present volume should end with the name of an author who stands second to none amono the poets of Hindustan

The thirty eight names to be found in the Table of Contents show that the Bankipore I ibrary is thoroughly repre entative as regards I ersian poetry of the period for while no familiar name is absent the list includes two poets whose works are achieve to be not with namely Mirza Kamran and Qasim Arslan. Although the name of the ill starred Mughal prince looms large in the pages of Indian history and although his poetic genius has met with due prince at the hands of his contemporaries by some strings circumstance only one copy of his Diwan which like that of Layram Khan is in

VI PREI ACEA

Persian and in Turki, has come down to us A full description of this very valuable manuscript will be found under No 237 A Biography of the prince has also been given in the form of an Appendix

With regard to Qâsim Arslân, although an account of his life is to be found in some of the principal Tadhiras, no other copy of his Dîwân seems to have been preserved

The Library is especially nich in fine copies of Jâmî's works No 180 constitutes a senious rival to the famous St Petersburg copy While No 185, containing the first chapters of the Silsilat ud Dahab and a number of lyrical poems, seems certainly to be in the handwriting of Jâmî himself

From the point of view of caligraphy, the first manuscript described in this volume is No. 196, which contains a copy of Jâmî's Yûsûf Zalîhhâ in the hand of the famous Kâtib Mîr 'Alî of Herât This copy, for which 1,000 gold mulius was paid, was presented to the Emperor Jahângîr by 'Abdur Rahîm, Khân Khânân, the son of Bayram Khân

This volume, like the first, is the work of Maulavi Muqtadir, and I think it will be found that the high level of scholarship reached in the former volume has been well maintained. Most encouraging has been the praise extended to the Maulavi by some of the most eminent Orientalists in Europe

I take this opportunity of mentioning with gratitude the valuable assistance which has been rendered in the work of cataloguing by the Assistant Librarian, Shahab ud Din Khuda Bukhsh, son of the founder of the Library The third volume will bring the Persian poetry to a close, and it is intended to include in that volume a few photographic facsimiles of interesting title pages, etc., found in the works dealt with in the three volumes

TUHFAT-UN-NASÂ'IH

A poem in the form of a Qasidah containing various religious and moral conniels on such subjects as prayer ablution, fasting reading the Quran married life principles of tiade advantages of charity duty towards ones neighbours the evils of borrowing money stinginess, chess and other games etc

All the verses of the poem end in the letter , Beginning -

On fol 2b the author who designates himself الومعت كلا Yûsuf Gada (according to the colophon كنا كلا Shâh Yûsuf Gada) says that he wrote these admonitions for his son الو القبح Abul Fath

The spiritual guide of the author is designated on fol 2° Shaykh Mahmûd

The conclusion the poet says that the poem, which he completed on the 10th of Rabî' II, A.H 795 (AD 1392), is divided into forty-five chapters, and comprises 781 bayts (هامال و المال و الما

Regarding the date of the composition of the poem, our copy agrees with the two noticed by Di Ethé in his India Office Lib Cat, Nos 1276 and 1277, while the St Petersburg copy (see Cat des MSS et Xylographes, p 440, compare also Rehatsek Catalogue raisonné, p 129, No 11) gives as date A H 752 (A D 1351)

Nothing much is known about the author of this poem, Hâj Khal, W Peitsch, Di Ethé, and others have failed to identify him Faqîi Muhammad, a modern Indian biographer of the Hanafite 'Ulamâs, in his and Hadâ'iq-ul-Hanafîyah (Lucknow edn, p 294), which, according to the author, is based on certain trustworthy authorities enumerated in the preface, alone gives a very meagie account of the present author. He says that Shaykh Yûsuf was a Khalîfah of the celebrated Nasîi-ud-Dîn Mahmûd Chiiâg-i-Dihlî, the great Shaykh of the Chishtî Order (d ah 757 = ad 1356); that the Masnawî Tuhfat-un-Nasâ'ih composed by him deals with moral and religious instructions, and that all the verses of the poem end in the letter; that he was well versed in theology, jurisprudence, tradition, and Tafsîr, etc., and that he died in ah 774 (ad 1372) for which date the words' year.

Now, if the above work is to be trusted, we can prefer A H 752, given in the St Petersburg copy, as the date of the composition of the poem

For other copies see Ethé, Ind Office Lib Cat (loc cit) An incomplete copy of the poem is mentioned in W Pertsch, Berlin Cat, pp 124, 125 See also Hâj Khal, vol 11, p 242

The Tuhfat-un-Nasa'ih has been lithographed in Bombay, A H 1283 It should be remarked that on foll 8°-31° of this copy the second part of all the bayts is written first and the first part afterwards

THE LYRICAL POEMS OF KAMÂL-I KHUJANDÎ

Beginning -

امساح سحى آن له كه كند اهل كمال له لباي ملك الملك حداي منعال

مولايا سبح كعال الدين مسعود Shaykh Kamal ud Din Khujandı the celebrated saint and poet was born at Khujand in Transoxania In hi youth he performed a pilgrimage to Mecca and on his return settled down in Tabriz during the reign of Sultan Husayn bin Uways (A H 7:7-784 = AD 1374-1382) who entertained great respect for the poet and erected for him a Khangah (monastery) Here the poets renown as a saint secured for him a large number of disciples and adherents In A H 787 = A D 1385 when Tugtamish Givas ud Din of the White Horde of the Eastern Kipchak family of Orda attacked Fabriz he took the poet with him to his capital Sirai in Kipchak where Kamal | Khujand remained for four years Subsequently he came back to his favourite city Tabiiz in the time of Miian Shah (d A ii 810 = AD 1408) who was also a great admirer and patron of the poet Kamal was a contemporary of Hafiz of Shiraz but they never met Jami in his Baharistan fol 104 says that Kamal i Khujand imitated but at the same time surpassed Khwajah Hasan of Dehli The poet spent the greater part of his life in labriz where he died in A H 803 = AD 1400 See Nafahat p 712 Hibib us Siyar vol in Juz 3 p 90 Haft Iqlim fol 388 Yadı Baydı fol 190 Riyad ush Shu arı fol 3485 Na htar 1 Ishq fol 1400 Miftih ut Tawarikh p 159 and

Natâ'ıy-ul-Afkâı, p 352 According to the author of the Mujâlıs-ul-'Ushshâq, fol 136°, Kamâl died in a h 808 = a d 1405 Daulat Shâh, p 352, places the poet's death in a h 792 = a d 1389, Taqî Auhadî, fol 619°, in a h 692, probably a mistake for 792, following Daulat Shâh The author of the Khulâsat-ul-Afkâr, fol 157°, alone places the poet's death in a h 783 = a d 1381

The following verse is said to have been inscribed on the poet's tomb

For further notices on the poet's life see Majma' un-Nafâ'is, fol 394b, Makhzan-ul-Garâ'ib, fol 718, and Mir'ât-ul-Khayâl, p 81 See also Sprenger, Oude Cat, p 454, Rieu, Pers. The initial Qasîdah is followed by two others, both rhyming in fol 5° Gazals, alphabetically arranged, beginning agreeing with the initial Gazal in Sprenger's copy fol 296<sup>b</sup> Qit'as, beginning as in Ethé, India Office Lib Cat, No 1278

تا مکرد ، من بهاد سیاد سین آباد سد از من طرد ، آباد سین

fol 309<sup>b</sup> Fards, beginning

آن دلير يد مهر كه يامييه ، يهر-دارد سر عاشفي يدارد دل مهر

One remarkable feature of this MS is that each Gazal, Qit'ah, Rubâ'î, and Fard has, as an introductory line written in gold, a line of Amîr Shâhî's (d AH 857 = AD 1453) poems, and these, taken together, would mount to nearly one fourth of his diwan. The first introductory line runs thus on fol 3 ---

Written in a very clear Nasta liq within gold ruled borders with a double page faded unwan

The original leaves are put into modern margins

This splendid copy was written only eighty three years after the poets death and the colophon is dated

ەيوان مغرىي

THE DÎWÂN OF MAGRIBÎ.

Maulânâ Muhammad Shîrîn, better known as Magribî مرائل معنى مغرلي مغرلي, a celebrated saint as well as poet, was born, according to Taqî Auhadî, fol 690°, at Nâin in Isfahân According to Jâmî, Nafahât, p 713, Magribî was a disciple of Shaykh Ismâ'îl Sîsî, a companion of Shaykh Nûr-ud-Dîn 'Abd-ui-Rahmân Isfarâinî IIe' is said to have derived his poetical title from a Shaykh of Magrib (Northein Africa), from whom he received the Khiiqah of the Sûfî order of the celebrated Muhî-ud-Dîn Ibn-ul-'Arabî The poet at first obtained great favours from Mîrân Shâh (d a h 810 = a d 1408), but when Kamâl-i-Khujandî, an intimate friend of Magribî, rose to distinction and became a favourite of Mîrân Shâh, he (Magribî) was no more favoured by the prince, and consequently the friendship of the two poets ended in a bitter enmity

Di Sprenger, in his Oude Cat, p 477, says that Magiibî is the author of Arabic glosses on the Fatûhât and of the Jâm-i-Jahân Numâ

According to Jâmî's Nafahât (loc cit) the poet died in A H 809 = A D 1406, at the age of sixty Consequently we may infer that he was boin in or about A H 749 = A D 1348 The same date of his death is given in the Habîb-us-Siyai, vol iii, Juz 3, p 91, Taqî Kâshî, Oude Cat, p 19, Khulâsat-ul-Afkâi, fol 182ª, Majma'-ul-Fusahâ, vol ii, p 30, Natâ'ij-ul-Afkâi, p 372, and Yad-i-Baydâ, fol 202ª Almost all of the above biographers say that Magnibî died in Tabiîz and was buried in Suikhâb, while Taqî Auhadî (loc cit) says that he visited the poet's tomb at Istihbân in Fâis

Majâlıs-ul-'Ushshâq gives the poet's death in AH 807 = AD 1404, while Di Rieu says that this date is also given in Taqî Auhadî, but our copy of Auhadî's 'Uiafât does not bear any date

For further notices of the poet's life and his dîwân, see, besides the references given above, Ouseley, Biogr Notices, p 106, Rieu, ii, p 633, Rieu, Supplt, No 277, Ethé, Bodl Lib Cat, No 859, Ethé, Ind Office Lib Cat, Nos 1281–1283, and W Pertsch, Berlin Cat, pp 719, 720 and 856

The diwan of Machibi is said to contain about five thousand verses Contents —

دىوان سىد نجهه"، الله ولى

The dîwân of Sayyıd Nı'mat Ullâh Walî, containing religious and mystical poems, beginning with a short doxology

العمد لله الذي عن الاعمال تعبده الاقدم الاقدم ومسال الخ

امبر بور الدين سد نعب ، الله ولي Nûı-ud-Dîn Nı'mat Ullâh, الله ولي better known as Sayyıd Nı'mat, better known as Sayyıd Nı'mat Ullah Walî, was boin in Halab, according to the author of the Majma' ul-Fusahâ, vol 11, p 42, on the 22nd of Rajab,  $\Delta$  H 730 or 731 =  $\Delta$  D 1329 or 1330 (See also Rieu, 11, p 634) From an early age he applied his mind to the study of literature, theology, jurisprudence, Sûfism, and other subjects, which he is said to have learnt separately from the several distinguished learned personages of the age, viz, Shaykh Ruknud-Dîn Shîrâzî, Shaykh Shams-ud-Dîn Makkî, Sayyıd Jalâl ud-Dîn Khwânzmî, and Qâdî 'Adud-ud-Dîn At the age of twenty he went on a pilgrimage to Mecca, where he met Qutb-ud-Dîn Râzî, and became the disciple of the learned Shaykh, the celebrated 'Abd Ullah Yafi'i (d AH 768 = AD 1366), who is the author of the several well-known Arabic works on Mysticism, enumerated Brockelmann, vol 11, p 177. After staying for some time at Mecca, he travelled through Egypt and Îrân, and on leaching Tabrîz came in contact with Qasim-i-Anwar (vide infia) He then came to Samarqand, and on his way, visiting Yazd, reached Kilman, where his son Bulhanud-Dîn was bore He finally settled in Mahân, near Kirmân, it is said with ninety thousand disciples around him

Being a cclebrated saint of a noble parentage, he was highly esteemed by the reigning king Sultan Shah Rukh Mirza (A H 807-859 = A D 1404-1447), as well as by other distant ruling chiefs and nobles Referring to his pedigree on fol 391b, he informs us that he was a descendant of the great prophet of Arabia, who was his ancestor in the nineteenth degree

ىوردەم ھە مى رسول ھە است آسكاراست بىس ، سھائي Saltan Shibab ad Din Bahmani of the Diccan (in 820-838 = AD 1421-1434) as a token of his regard constructed a large domed building on the tomb of this holy saint

Some bio, raphers are of opinion that Sayyid Ai mat Ullah has loft above three hundred religious and mystical treatises in Arabic and Persian His diwan is said to have been prefaced by one Sayyid Mahmud Waliz known as Dai Ullah of Shiraz

Abd ur Ruzzaq Samarqandı who visited the Sayaids tomb in all 84 = vd 1411 says in his Matla us Sadayn fol 112 that the Sayaid died on the 25th of Rajah all 834 = ad 1430. This is followed by the authors of the Habib us Siyar vol in Juz 3 p 143 Natali ul Afkar p 423 and Mifthlut Tawankh

The authors of the Jam 1 Mufid Lubab at Iawarikh and Tabaqat 1 Shah Jahani give also as stated by Dr Rieu p 634 the same year of the Suyrds death

Daulat Shah p 333 (followed by Taqı Auhadı fol 758° and by the authors of the Majalıs ul Mu munin fol 3 ° Mır at ul Asrar fol 050° Khulasat ul Afkar fol 203° Rıyad ush Shu ara fol 143 and Nashtar I Liq fol 1843) states that the Sayyıd died in a ii 827 = 10 1423 at an advanced age In his diwan fol 390° the Sayyıd distinctly says that he passed ninety seven years in happiness —

While in the following copy fol 274° the poet on another occasion says that he reached the age of about one hundred years —

Ihe picsont copy ful 3/9° reads من قرب پر مال Instead of solution ورب ورب صد مال but , قرب صد مال

The short press develops is followed by several Migrawis Gazals and Rubais. The first Magnawi begins as in Ricu Supplt No 279 — fol 52 Beginning of the Gazals in alphabetical order -

هام گری نماسه ، سبد ما هان و هانان ماسد ما fol, 372b The contents run from the centre to the margin, where a series of Taijf bands begin thus

آمد آن ماقي سر مسه ، و للسنس هامي النم

foll 3776-3926 This section, which is entitled in the following copy مسل حلىل الله, contains several Masnawîs, Qit'as, and Taikîbbands, and begins with a line or two in prose—

هوالاول و الاحر و الطاهر و الناطن و هو نكل عني علم الع which is followed by a Maşnawî, beginning thus -

صوره ، و معاي را همه در ياه.، مي و عاملد هميو آه، و حماد ،

fol 389<sup>b</sup> The poet says that his son Mîr Buihân-ud-Dîn Khulil Ullâh came to him unexpectedly in Sha'bân, A.H. 775

دم ساعب گده به بود ار رور رور آدید در مه سعبان بالردهم بود ماه وقب سریه ، ماه در مبران ماه در حود و مهر در مبران دخ و هفتاد و هفتاد از سال رفته در (810) که ناگا هان مسر بر هان دین حلیل الله آمد از عبر ، بیده دا مهمان

fol 392<sup>a</sup> Rubâ'îs, alphabetically arranged, beginning as in Rieu Supplt, No 279 —

The contents of this copy are very similar to those of the one mentioned in Rieu Supplt (loc eit) and also to the Tehran edition lithographed in A H 1276

The following note at the beginning suggests that this valuable copy once belonged to the Imperial Library of Shah Jahan —

KULLIYÂT-I-KÂTIBÎ.

A slightly defective copy of the poetical works of Kâtibî.

 announced in different localities most of Katibis productions in his (Simis) own name Katibi himself refers to this on fol 319 —

The poet reluctantly left Nishapur for Herit where he entered the service of the learned prince Mirza Biysan_ar (d a ii 837 = a d 1433) son of Sultan Shah Rukh (A H 807-850 = A D 1404-1447) Mirra Bay sangar is said to have asked the poet to compos a Queidah in answer to one of Kamal ud Din Isfahani (d Air 635 = AD 1237) unfortunately the Qasidah did not meet with the approval of Bay sangar and the poet with a broken heart quitted the place for Shirwan Here he found a most benevolent and munificent master in Amir Shaykh Ibrahim Shirwan (d Au 820 = AD 1417) who showed extraordinary favours to him and did all he could for his comfort Katibi then travelled to Âdaibaijan and addressed several Qasidas to Islandar bin Qaia Yusuf (A H 824-838 = A D 1421-1434) But this king took no notice of the poet and he wearied with his wandering life and disgusted with the ill treatment of kings and nobles devoted the latter part of his life to religious and Sufic studies in Isfahan under the celebrated Safi Shaykh Sain ud Din Isfahani (d AH 835 = AD 1431) Katibi finally settled in Astarabad where he began to write a Khamsah in imitation of Nizami when all of a sudden he fell a victim to the plague in A H 838 or 839 = AD 1434 or 1435

Notwithstanding the known celebrity of Katibi Jami in his Baharistan fol 106 has correctly passed the following remark on the poet —

fol 1506 The introduction of the poem دلرناي Dilrub i Beginning —

Unfortunately the entire poem after the introduction is winting and it appears that some mischicvous hind has torn it away

In this introduction the poet after chumerating his previous poems Dilt Bab Si Namah Majma ul Bahraya and Liu u Dil repents much for his absence in Jili n in which unlucky period he left his benevolent master Sult in Rida (who died according to Juhan Âra as stated by Ricu p 638 in a ii 829 = a p 1425). The poet further says that after some hindiance he got an introduction to the court of the said Sulfian is successor Amir Kaya whose courtiers harassed him (Katthi) by criticising his poems but shortly after he grined the favour of the Amir to whom he dedicated the poem Bilrubar.

The last line of the introduction found here runs thus -

HÂL NÂMAH, BETTER KNOWN AS GÛI-U-CHAUGÂN

An allegorical mystic Masnawi by Arifi Harawi Beginning — a untive of Herit flouring the reign of Sultin Shah Rulh (Au 807-850 = Ap 1404-1447). He was surnamed على or the second Salvian for two leasons first the excellence of his style and secondly that like Salman his eye-sight was weel. Besides the present Masnavi and several other poems. Ariff has left a poetical treatise on the Hanafite law. According to Drulat Shah p 439 and several other biographers Ariff is the author of a Dah Namah which he is s id to have dedicated to the Wazir Khwayth Pir Ahmad bin Ishaq but this is disputed by Taqi Auhadi in his Urafat fol 460°. This Taqi is of opinion that it was one Mahmud Ariff a different poet who composed the Dah Namah and dedicated it to the said Wazir and that peoplo have mistaken Mahmud Ariff of Ariff Harawi. But according to Ilahi Oude Cat p 80 it would appear that Mahmud Ariff is identical with Ariff Harawi.

The author of the Tabaqat 1  $\underline{Sh}$ ah Jahan as stated by Rieu p 630  $\underline{I}$  laces Arifas death in a u. 853 = a  $\underline{D}$  1449

The eighth line on fol 2b leveals the name of the poet

تا مام معارفي برارم

'Although the poet calls the poem حال نامه IIâl Nâmah, on fol. 24<sup>n</sup>, line 2—a title which is also found at the beginning of the MS it is better known as گوي و حوگان Gûr-u-Chaugân. These two words, which form the subject of this Masnawî, are personified, and they recur very frequently in the course of the poem

The Gûi-u-Chaugân was the favourite game of the ancient Persians, resembling much the polo of the present age

According to the author of the Tabaqât-1-Shâh Jahânî, as stated by Rieu (ibid), the poem was written in Shîrâz, for Mirzâ 'Abd Ullâh, who succeeded his father Ibrâhîm Sultân as governor of Fârs in AH 835 = AD 1431 This copy, like the one mentioned by Rieu (ibid.), bears the dedication on fol 6<sup>b</sup> to Sultân Muhammad.

حورشبد سریر و ماه مسد ملطان حهانبان مصد

In the epilogue on fol  $23^{\circ}$  the poet says that he composed this Masnawî after passing the fiftieth year of his age, within the course of two weeks, in A H 842 = AD 1438

سیاه گدسه ، سال حمرم یك درم سكست بال حمرم كردم بدو هفته بهر بامس همیو مه جار ده نمامس ' اي آنكه معادم بدايي تاريح بيان اين معايي حون كوكية سير بهايد -روش بيو گوي حور بهايد Ine chronogiam گوي حور indicates the date A II §42 The poet further adds that it consists of five hundred and one verses —

According to some the poem consists of five hundred and ten verses and according to others of five hundred and five verses. The exact number of verses in this copy is only four hundred and ninety five

DÎWÂN-I-SHÂHÎ

A be sutsful copy of the diwan of Amir Shahi Beginning with the (azals in alphabetical order —

Amir Shuhi who e original name was Âqa Mahk bin, Jamal ud Din I riuzkûhi أما ملك بن حمال الدين اصر صاهي السنرواري was a native of Sabzwar in Khurusan He was descended from the noble and illustrious family of the Sarbadars of Khurasan, and is said to have been the nephew of Khwajah 'Ali Muayyad (A H 766-783 = A D 1364-1381), the last prince of that family Besides being a distinguished poet of great eminence Shahî was very well skilled in caligraphy, painting Daulat Shah, p 426, remarks that the pathos of Khusra, and music the nicety of Hasan, the delicacy of Kamal, and the elegance of Hafiz, are all combined in the style of Shahi A member of the ruling family of Khurasan and possessing such a versatile mind, Shahi was courteously treated by kings and nobles, and he soon found a patron and a friend in the learned prince Milzâ Bâysangar (d A H 837 = A D. 1433), the son of Sultan Shah Rukh (A II 807-850 = AD 1404-1447) The prince and the poet became intimate friends in a very short time, and the former restored to the poet his lands and possessions which had been lost in the wais with the Sarbadars It is said that on one occasion Milza Bâysangai, thinking that the Takhallus Shâhî would be more suitable for himself, asked the poet to adopt some other poetical title, but as that title had already established the poet's reputation, he did not approve of the prince's proposal Thus offended, the prince bloke off his connection with the poet for one year. One day, when the prince was entertaining his friends in a party, Shâhî asked for an audience which was refused by the prince The poet instantly composed a very pathetic poem, quoted in Taqî Kâshî, fol 228°, and sent it to the prince, who, greatly moved by it, pardoned the poet and began to show favours The poet unfortunately did not enjoy long the prince's Once, on a shooting excursion, when the prince and the poet were left alone, the former imprudently observed that it was on such an occasion that the poet's father had seized the opportunity of killing a Sarbadâr, and that he apprehended a similar treachery from the poet on that occasion This remark deeply offended the poet, and ere long he retired from the court He went to his native place, and, satisfied with the small income of his ancestial property, began to lead a peaceful life, till, at the request of Milza Abul Qasim Babar (son of Muza Baysangai), who ruled in Khuiasan from ан 855-861 = AD 1452-1457, he went to Astarâbâd to make designs for some palaces, and died there in A H 857 = A D 1454, after the age of seventy His body was removed to his native place, Sabzwai, and interied in the same cemetery where his ancestors lay buried His contemporary poets were Âdarî, Maulânâ Kâtîbî, Maulânâ Hasan Salîmî and Khwâjah Auhad Mustaufi The last-named poet composed a very pathetic elegy on the death of Shahî This elegy, quoted in Taqî Kashî (loc cit) begins with the following line -

> کو ىسو رىر و رىر ار اسك و آهم سىروار ، راىكە سهر ساھ ىي ساھىي ىمي آيد ىكار

Taq• Anhadı in his 'Urafat fol 301 asserts that Shahı was the teacher of the celebrated Jamı and that the latter made a selection of one thousand verses from the original diwan of Shahı. Neither of these statements is supported by any biographer. Jamı himself in his Baharıstan fol 106 concludes his notice on the poets life with the following few words of praise without making even a slight allusion to any connection he may have had with Shahı.—

Moreover two reliable authors viz Taqi Kashi (loc cit) and the famous historian Khwand Amir (see Habib us Siyar vol in Juz 3 p 150) distinctly say that Amir Shahi composed twelve thousand verses and from these he selected one thousand verses for his diwan which is extant nowadays See also Haj Khal vol in p 286 quoted by Dr Rieu (loc cit) it would appear that the peem was composed in AII 852 (AD 1448) while Ra hid i Watwat died in AII 578 = AD 1182—a difference of nearly three hundred years. The present copy an incomplete one does not bear any note

KHÂWAR NÂMAH.

An epic poem in the measure and style of Findausi's Shah Namah, relating the heroic and warlike deeds of 'Ali and his brave companion Sa'd Waqqas and others, in battles fought with Qubad, the King of Khawaran, and with other heather kings, most of whom embraced Islam

By Ibn-1-Husâm Beginning

> ىيىسى ىدىن نامة دلكساي سىن نفس سىم نىام حداي

The introduction mentioned in Ethé, Bodl Lib. Cat, No 512, is not found in any of our copies

Shams-ud-Dîn Muhammad bin Husûm-ud-Dîn, مولانا همس الدين المعروب من الدين المعروب better known as bin-1-Husâm, was born, according to Daulat Shâh, p 438, in Khûsaf in the Quhistân of Khurâsân, where he is said to have led the life of an ordinary peasant Besides being known for his piety and learning he was a great theologian of his age, and is said to have received his spiritual instructions from Sadi-ud-Dîn Muhammad Rawâsî al-'Akkâsî He left many Qasîdas, most of which are in praise of 'Alî The author of the Suhuf-1-Ibrâhîm, fol 24°, saw a copy of the lyrical poems of 1bn-1-Husâm comprising about two thousand verses

The date of the poet's death is generally fixed in a H 875 = a D 1470 See Daulat Shâh (ibid), Majâlis-ul-Mu'minîn, fol 596, and Suhuf-I-Ibrâhîm, fol 24. See also Spienger, Oude Cat, pp 19, 68 and 432 Hâj Khal, vol 111, p 129, places the poet's death in a H 892 = a D 1486, and the author of the Habîb-us-Siyai, vol 111, Juz 3, p 366, gives Rabî' II a H 893 = a D 1487 Notices on the poet's life will also be found in Riyâd-ush-Shu'aiâ, fol 18b, and Haft Iqlîm, fol 235.

In the prologue, the poet, after highly praising Findausi and his grand epic poem Shâh Nâmah, in imitation of which he composed this work, starts with the story which begins thus on fol 9<sup>b</sup>

حردمند دانای ناری نراد ر ناری ربانان حسن کود ناد که ان مسید آرای افضی حرام رسول قرنسی علمه السالم

In the epilogue the post whose name occurs in the following line

Rays that he composed the poem in A II 830 (AD 1421) and called it have aren Namah

حو در سال ه - د دیشرود سي سد اين نامه ناريان فارسي مر اين نامه را حاوران نامه نام نهادم که در حاوران سد تمام and after comparing the present poem with the Shah Namah the poet proudly says that he has painted the noble and heroic character of Ah while Pardausi has sung the praises of an ordinary person like Rustum—

اگر طومی از ساهنامه مین تآرایس رمسم افگند بن ولی نامه من نیام عا می صافی من ر عام عا

سم الله الرحس الرحم هست صلي سر حوان كريم

باکا بروردگاري که ربان سعی گدار در دهان سعموران سبرین کار سکر گفتار الح

In this preface Jâmî, after discussing at length the beauties of poetry and supporting his statement from the verses of the Qui'ân and the sayings of the prophet, and citing as his evidence the names of 'Alî, who is himself the author of a dîwân, and other holy personages who admired poetry, says that he was then getting on to his seventieth year, and that from his youth he had had a bent of mind towards poetry, which, he says, had been cultivated and improved by his constant association with the scholars and the learned men of his time. Further on he states that though his poems were alphabetically arranged, he thought it prudent to put them into a more perfect order, which he did in A H 884 (A D 1479), as will appear from the following versified chronogram —

ار گوهر سال سام این همد درر بر روی صده ، بهاد یکدانه گهر

The word . with a dot on the first letter is equal to 884

The poet also gives here the twofold reasons for his assuming the poetical name of Jami -

MANÂSIK-I-HAJJ.

A treatise on the rites of the pilgrimage Beginning with a short preface —

العمد لله الدي حمل الكعمه المد ، العرام الح

Jamî wrote this work, as he says in the preface as well as at the end, during his short stay at Bagdâd on his way to pilgrimage at Mecca and Madînah in Ah 877 = Ad 1473. The author has noted down all the rites and principles of the pilgrimage, mentioning therein the difference of opinions and views of the four celebrated Imâms, viz, Abû Hanîfah, Shâfi'î, Mâlik and Hanbal, in performing the rites of this sacred ceremony. The work is divided into seven Fasls, or sections, of which the sixth is the largest. The last one is in Arabic

In the following lines at the end Jami more precisely gives the date of its composition, viz Thursday, the 22nd Sha'ban, A H 877

NAFAHÂT UL UNS

The well known work of Jami containing the biographical notices on the lives of the distinguished Sasis and saints who lived from the second century of the Muhammadan era down to the author's own age

Beginning -

In the prefixed Jams says that the source and origin of his present composition is the Tabaqat us Safiyah of Shaykh Abd ur Hahman Muhaminad bin Hu ayn us bulami an Nishapān (d a i 412 = a d d 122 see Rieu Arthic Cat p 438) which was divided into fixe Tabaqah each consisting of twenty notices. This Tabaqat was later on enlarged by Shaykh ul Islam Abd Isna i Abd Ull it by Muhaminad il An ari ul Harawi who according to his own statement as mentioned in this work (see the printed edition p 377) was born on the 2nd of Sh than A ii 396 = a d 1000 and died according to Haj Khal vol vi p 120 and Rieu Arabic Cat p 710 in a ii 481 = a d 1088. But as thus last recension did not include the account of the Shaykh ul Islam and comitted the notices of some of his predecessors his contemporaries and his followers Jami took up the task in a ii 881 = a d 14.6 at the request of the celebrated Mir Ali Shir (d a ii 906 = a d 1500) made considerable additions to the contents and added the accounts of the celebrated

Sûfîs omitted by the Shaykh-ul-Islâm, thus bringing down the work to the eighth century of the Hijiah He further states that, as the work of the Shaykh-ul-Islâm was written in the old language of Herât, he wrote this in the modern style of his time

Jâmî then proceeds to explain the meanings of several mystic terms and Sûfistic doctrines and principles relating to Sûfism, which he quotes or translates from several well-known authorities, such as the 'Awâriful Ma'ârif of Shihâb-ud-Dîn Abû Hafas 'Umar bin 'Abd Ullâh us-Suhrawardî (d ah 632 = ad 1234) See Hâj Khal, vol iv, p 275, the Kashf-ul Mahjûb of Shaykh Abul Hasan 'Alî bin 'Usmân al-Gaznawî (d ah 456 or 464 = ad 1063 or 1071), see Rieu, 1, 343, and also compare Hâj Khal, vol v, p 215, the Tafsîr-i-Kabîr of Imâm Fakhr-ud-Dîn Muhammad bin 'Umar ar-Râzî (d ah 606 = ad 1209), see Hâj Khal, vol vi, p 5, the Dalâ'il-un-Nabûwat of Imâm Mustagfirî an-Nasafî al-Hanafi (d ah 432 = ad 1040), see Hâj Khal, vol iii, p 237, etc

The work is apparently divided into three sections. First, notices on the lives of the distinguished holy saints, beginning with Abû Hâshim as-Sûfî, a contemporary of Sufyân-us-Sauiî who died in A H 161 = A D 777. Secondly, biographical accounts of the Sûfi poets from Sanâ'î to Hâfiz, and thirdly, notices on female saints, beginning with Râbi'ah. The notices are in chronological order

The full title of the work, بعماد ، الانس من حصراء ، العدس appears on fol 108°, line 5

In the concluding line the author says that he completed the work in A H 883 = A D 1478

LAMA'ÂT

The usual title ، اسعه اللبعاء, Ash'at-ul-Lama'ât, appears on tol 247°, line 8

This is a commentary on the Lama at (a treatise on mystic love) of I'akhr ud Din Iraqi (see No 89 above)

Be_inning *-

I aqı composed the Lama at at Quniyah while attending the lectures of Shaykh Sadr ud Din Qüniyawı (d λ ii 672 = λ D 1273) on the Γusάs ul Ililam of Muhi ud Din Ibn 1 Arabı (d λ ii 638 = λ D 1240)

In the preface Jami states that like many others he at first did not believe the Lami at of Iiaqi to be a true Sûfi tract but being requested by Mir Ali Shir to revise the said work Jāmi found it a very learned and useful tract on Sufism and subsequently wrote the present commentary

The prefice is followed by an introduction relating to religious and divine knowledge

The commentary on the text be ins thus on fol 2.00 -

YÛSUF-WA-ZALÎKHÂ.

The iomantic poem of Yûsuf and Zalîkhâ (Joseph and Potiphai's wife) See No 179 above

Beginning as usual -

الهي څخه امند تکساي گلي از زرصه حاويد سماي

This excellent and most valuable copy of the Yasuf Zalikha onco worth one thousand Muhurs was presented to Jahangir in the fifth year of his raign by Abd ur Rahim Khan Khanan son of the celebrated Bairam Khan It was transcribed by the famous caligrapher Mir 'Ali of Herit and is dated the end of Ramadan Au '930

This Qurine story has been one of the most favourite subjects of potential compositions among the Persian and Turkysh poets. For a long time it was a popular notion that Tirdaus was the first poet who gave a poetical version of this story of Joseph and Potiphars wife but it has lately been shown that Abū Munyyad of Balkh and Bakhtyar of Alwaz before him had made this romance the subject of a poem (see Brownes History of Persia vol 11 p 146). It seems almost certain that Am aq of Bukharı (d an 1149 = ad 1736) was the first after Pirdaus to write a Yasuf Zahkhu. His Masawi can be read in two different metres. Am aq was followed by many such as Jami

The famous Qadi Nasırul Dın Aba Said Abd Ullih bin Umar al Bıy lawı (die laccorling of the Waf bil Waf yat ın Au 685 = AD 1986 and accorling t Al Y fil ın Au 685 = AD 1986 and accorling t Al Y fil ın Au 1928 = AD 199 but according to Hann Ullih Missaufi who mentions B yl wis Au 190 = AD 190 but a cording to Hann Ullih Missaufi who mentions B yl wis Au 190 = AD 190 but a cording to Hann Ullih Missaufi who mentions B yl wis Au 190 = AD 1 10) the author of the well in who commentary on the Quran called the AD 1 10) the author of the well in who commentary on the Quran called the AD 1 10 the author of the well in who commentary on the Quran called the AD 1 10 the author of the works (e of Locd u pp 410-418)

(d ah 898 = ad 1492), Qûsim Khûn Maujî, Amîr Humâyûn (d ah 979 = ad 1571), Nûzim of Herât (d ah 1081 = ad 1670), who commenced the poem in ah 1058 = ad 1648 and completed it in ah 1072 = ad 1661, Shaukat, the governor of Shîrâz under Fath 'Alî Shâh (In 1811, when Sii Goie Ouseley was staying at Shîrâz, this poet was about twenty-two years of age, see Notices of Persian Poets, p 50) Mirzâ Jân Tapish of Dehlî, son of Yûsuf Beg Khân of Bukharâ, also wrote a Yûsuf Zalîkhâ (see Sprenger, Oude Cat, p 297) According to a Târîkh, quoted in Ethé, India Office Lib Cat, No 1729, Tapish died in ah 1220 = ad 1805

Among the poets who composed Tuíkish versions of the iomance the following, among others, may be enumerated —Shaykh Hamd Ullah bin Âqâ Shains-ud-Dîn Muhammid, poetically called Hamdî (d ah 909 = ad 1503), Maulânâ Shains-ud-Dîn Ahmad bin Sulaymân, known as Ibn-i-Kamâl Pâshâ (d ah 940 = ad 1533), 'Abd-ud-Dalîl al-Bagdâdî, poetically called Dihnî (d ah 1023 = ad 1614), Bihishtî (d ah 979 = ad 1571), Shikâiî, Khalîfah, who composed his poem in ah 970 = ad 1562, Ni'mat Ullah al-Hûnâzî, Muhammad Kâmî, Sinân bin Sulaymân (a noble of the court of Sultân Bâyazîd Khân), and Yahyâ Beg, who died after ah 990 = ad 1582

Jâmî's Yûsuf Zalîkhâ is admitted on all hands to be the best Masnawî poem on the subject and has obtained the widest celebrity "With us," says Mi Fitzgerald, in his notice of Jâmî's life prefixed to his translation of Salâmân and Absâl, "his name is almost wholly associated with his Yûsuf and Zalîkhâ, the Bahâristân, and this present Salâmân and Absâl, which he tells us is like to be the last product of his old age. And these three count for three of the brother stars of that constellation into which his seven best mystical poems are clustered under the name of Heft Aurang—those Seven Thrones to which we of the West and North give our characteristic names of 'Great Bear' and Charles's Wain"

Of all the works of Jâmî (for which see Nos 179 and 180, etc.) the Yûsuf and Zalîkhâ is no doubt the most popular. No Persian student in India is ever tried of reading the poem, and he makes it a point to learn some of its finest verses by heart in the same way as he commits to memory some of the fine verses from the Gulistân of Sa'dî and the Dîwân of Hâliz. In Europe, too, the merits of the poem have been duly acknowledged "Le poeme" (says Thornton) "des amours de Joseph et de Zulikha est consideré par les juges compétents de la littérature comme le plus bel ouvrage qui existe en Orient."

This romance, as I have noticed before, has been a common subject

This iomance, as I have noticed before, has been a common subject of poetical composition among the iomantic poets whose dates range from the fourth to the present century of the Muhammadan eia, but the most celebrated rendering of the legend is that by Jâmî, who has decorated it with all the graces of poetry

The MS is written in a perfect minute Nastaliq within gold illuminated borders on fine thick gilt-edged paper with many coloured and gold floral designed margins and a most luxuriously adorated double page unwan. Foll 2° and 3° contain two beautiful richly illuminated stars al oil 1° 2° ot° 60° 78° 101° and 1°2° contain full page and highly finished illustrations in the best Person style.

Trom the magnificent appearance and the exquisite decorations of the MS as well as from the name of the scribe it can at once be concluded that this copy of the Yasif Zahkhā is no other than therone worth one thousand multure which was presented to Jahangri ty Abd ur Paham khān khānan on Monday the 2nd of Muharram au 1019 at Akbarulad—a fact of which the following mention is made by the contemporary hi torian of the emperor in Maa ir I Ishangari fol 33—

در روز در سسه دوم معرم سه هرار و نوزده دار العائه اکترآباد بسانه عفر آسمان بایه ارایس پلا دفت و درین روز بو من زلتائی نفط ملاً متر علی معبور و مذهب که هرار مهر دا ر سبه سالار سائنانان نظریتی بسکش ارسال داسته بود معرض گردید الم

Maulara Mir Ali ul hatib son of Maulana Mihmul Rafiqi was one of the most accomple had Nastaliq writers. He was I ru in Halat lut grew up in Mahhab and spent part of his life in Bukhira. The author of the Mirat ul Alam fol 417 says that according to some Mir Ali was a pupil of Maulana Sultan Ali d c A H 9-0 = A D 1 14 to whom as a caligrapher Mir Ali is preferred but that others concerne him to have been a puril of Maulana / iyn ud Din who was a pupil of Sultan All and died in AH 918 = 10 1512 The same author mentions that Mir Ali went to Mawari un Nahr in a ii 918 = a 1 1-1. and died there in A H 924 = AD 1018 But the date of transcription of this copy viz A II 950 = A D 1523 proves that the date of the scribes death given by the author of the Mir at ul Man! is erroneous Moreover Mir Alis contemporary biographer Sun Mirza in his luhfa i Sami composed in A ii 957 = AD 1550 distinctly sigs that in All 945 = AD 1 38 Mir Ali went to Mawara un Nahr and a chronogram composed by Mir Alf on the occasion of the foundation of a Madra ah in Bukhara AH 942 = AD 153 and quoted (as stated in Ricu is p o31) by Raqim suggests that he was then residing in that city Other authors refer his death to AH 901 = AD 1044 and AH 957 = AD 1550 See Dorn Melanges Asiatiques vol 11 p 13

Mîr 'Alî was also a good poet, and adopted the Takhallus Majnûn. He wrote several treatises on the different characters of caligraphy

KHULÂSAT-UN-NAFAHÂT.

An abindgment of the Nafahât-ul-Uns, dated an 923 Author Jalâl

This simple name of the author of this abiidgment occurs only in the following opening line —

The author is probably Shaykh Jalâl Haiawî, the son of Khwâjah Muhammad bin 'Abd-ul-Malik He flourished during the time of Sultân Husayn Bâyqaiâ, and was a disciple of Maulânâ Shams-ud-Dîn Muhammad Rûhî of the Naqshbandiyah order See Habîb-us-Siyar, vol 111, Juz 3, p 348 The author of the Suhuf-1-Ibiâhîm says that Shaykh Jalâl Harawî was the grandson of Jâmî, and died after the age of seventy

The name of the person (written in ied on fol 2<sup>n</sup>, line 8) to whom the work was dedicated, and which might have helped me in the identification of the author, has been rubbed out

The biographical notices are very meagre, without date or details They begin on fol 7° with Shaykh Abû Hâshim and end with Hâfiz of Shîrâz

Written in a fair minute Nasta'lîq, within gold and coloured borders, with a small illuminated, but faded, frontispiece

SHARH-I-RUKNÎ.

A commentary on the well-known versified treatise on riddles and logographs of من المعروب ، المسر كمال الدين حسن لى محمد الحس المعروب , Amîr Kamâl-ud-Dîn Husayn bin Muhammad al-Hasan, known as Mîr Husayn al-Nîsâbûrî, who lived at the court of Sultân Husayn Mirzâ (A H 873-911 = A D 1468-1505) See Habîbus-Siyar, vol 111, Juz 3, p 340 Mîr Husayn composed his treatise at the request of the celebrated Mîr 'Alî Shîr, the prime minister of the above-named Sultân, and died, as the commentator says at the end of this commentary, on Wednesday, the 9th Dilqa'd, A H 904 = A D 1498.

Commentator 5, Ruknî

Beginning with the initial lines of the original treatise -

سام آنکه از تالیف و برک معمای حهانوا داد برا کسانید از معما نام اما شد از نامس کساده هر معما

The commentator a favourite pupil of Min Husayn does not distinctly state his name but adopts the poetical title of رکبی Lukni and so designates himself in the proface which runs thus —

اما بعد معروص آنکه حسر صادق رکبي عاسق میگوند که در رمان حوالي و انام کامراني بعشق و عاشقي بنعر و ساعري و به معمآ حوالي مثل نقام داسم از آن در ملازمت حيات سيادت بياهي -1 دسگاهي امير کمال الدين - ن اين محمد الحس مسهور به مير - ن لسانوري - علم معما ميکردم - سيد الحس

In this pieface the commentator says that in his youth feel no a keen inclination for studying poetry and riddles he very attentively listened to the riddles of his illustrious master. Mir Husayn which he says were highly appreciated by the celebrated Jam. He further states that as Vir Husayn left no commentary to his treatise on riddles he as a faithful puril wrote the present one on his master's work, and added thereto Mir Husayn's enigmatic ver es on the ninety holy names of Cod (which he says are omitted in the original treatise) with short explanations. These names begin in this copy on fol 35 with all and end on fol 13 with

On fol 13° the commentator gives the definition and descrip ion of as rendered by Sharif and Din al Yazdi d A II 8.08 = AD 1454 the author of the Zafar A mah a well known history of the reign of Timur (see Rieu i p 173) in his judy and the Bodl Lib Cat No 1345) and by Jami in his treatness on the same subject (see No 180 11-14 above)

On fol 14 the commentator after mentioning the name of his benevolent patron Mir Ali Shir مون ارورده نعنت المان مقدر هم حون ارورده نعنت المان مان مان مان دود المان مان مان دود المان مان دود المان مان دود المان مان دود المان علاق المان الما

DÎWÂN-I-BANÂ'Î.

A rare collection of the lyrical poems of Banâ'î, arranged in alphabetical order

Beginning

رهي ار لعل سبرين تو سور امناده در سر ها رده نسکر ار رسك مده ، نرحونش حسر ها

Maulânâ Kantâl-ud-Dîn Banâ'î, whose original name was Shîr 'Alî, مولانا كمال الدين سبر على السعلص به سائى بن اوسان معمار البروي, was the son of Muhammad Khân Mi'mâr He was a native of Herât in Khurâsân, and was the pupil of Muhammad Yahyâ bin 'Ubayd Ullâh He derived his poetical name of Banâ'î probably from the profession of his father, على, an architect Besides being a good poet and a great Sûfî, he distinguished himself in music and caligraphy Regarding his poetical talent and his achievement in the art of music, the poet himself says, on fol 206b of his well-known Masnawî, the Bâg-1-Iram (Asiatic Society copy, referred to hereafter)

صد عرال ّار عرل سدة رامم بيعيا برامدة نامم درميان علوم تعقيقي كردة كسم ، فنون موصدي It is sud that when Sultan Ya qub (A ii 884-896 = A d 1449-1490) once requested Sultan Husaya Mirza (A ii 873-911 = A d 1468-1400) to sent him some distinguished persons slidled in different arts the latter selected Bana i alone on account of his extraordinary genin and versatible learning

According to some biographers the celebrated Mir Ali Shir (d Au 906 = An 1800) was jealous of Bana'is celebrity and it is and that on one occasion Bana'i incurred the hatred of Mir Ali Shir on account of a saicastic remark which he passed on the learned ways. The poet therefore left Herat and went to Iraq where he entited the court of Sultan Yaqub. After some time he returned to his native place and tried to regain the favour of Mir Ali Shir by addressing a Qasidah in his praise which however was not approved by him. Thirded at this the poet substituted the name of Sultan Alimad Mira (Au 813-809 = An 1468-1493) for that of Ali Shir indisent the following versified sature to the latter.—

دحبرايي که نکر مکر من الد هريکي را نسوهري دادم آنکه کانس نداد عنس نود رو کسندم نديگري دادم

This enraged the wazir to such an extent that he obtained a death warrint against Bana: The poet fled to Maw tra in Nahr where he is kindly received by Sultan Ah Mirza the grandson of Sultan Aha Sud Mirza. Such was the sid state of affairs between Bana: and Aha Shir as we learn from the biographers but on fol 13. of the Bag: Iram (A S B copy) we see that the poet speaks of the wazir in high terms and greatly esteems his talents in P rsian and Tulkish poems and introduces him to us in this way —

بودما را اممر دانا دل حا ن از حمله فاصلان فاصل فاصلي كاملي ح ن رمان نعلي سمو مسمهر نصهان

In the latter part of his life Bana i wrote poems in imitation of Hafir using the Takhallus of Hahi. He was lilled in the massacre of Shah Isma il Safawi in Samarqand All 918 = AD 1512

BÂĠ-I-IRAM.

A short selection from the Bâg-î-Iram of Banâ'î (see No 215 above) The MS is without title, but I have identified it by comparing it with the copy of the Bâg-i-Iram, No Na 162, in the Asiatic Society, Bengal, mentioned on p 102 in the Persian Catalogue of that Society by Shams-ul-'Ulamâ Mirzâ Ashraf 'Alî, who ascribes the poem to a certain Auhadî This accidental oversight of the learned Shams-ul-'Ulamâ was probably due to a hasty reading of the following line on fol 264b of his copy, in which Banâ'î incidentally mentions the name of Auhadî when citing an example—

مسم نکسا برآر د نه رگوس بندي از سخ اوحدي بناوس Bana 1 who adopts the poetical title of Huli in this poem mentions his own name more than once for instance on fol 2625 (Soc copy) —

Agun on fol 2136 -

Peginning of the pre ent selection -

Dr I'the in his India Office I ib Cat \o 104 when mentioning the works of Sana i by an oversight a summer a copy of this selection of the B b I Iram to be the Carib \omegammanh of Sina i (see my note on this point in \omega o 17)

The opening lines of this s lection are found in fol 4) of the Society copy where they run after the following, heading —

The first bayt of the frigment of the Big i Iram vi - quoted in Fthe Ind Office I ib Cat \o 1391 is the twelfth line on fol 11 of this copy corresponding to the sixth line on fol 91 of the Society's copy and the last bayt of the same Ind Office I ib copy viz —

is likewise the last bayt of the present selection corresponding to the third buyt on fol 114 of the Society's copy

Sam Mirza in his Tuhia i Sami fol 96° says that Banut dedicated his Big i Iram to Sultan laqub (A ii 881-816 = AD 1449-1490) but this statement seems to be criencous since we see that the poet speaks you ii of this Sultan throughout in the past tense, and the words الار الله are always added after his name, which frequently occurs in the headings of the Society copy Again on fol 55b of the said copy we read

The words at once suggest that even Jâmî was dead at the time when Banâ'î wrote the poem, while Sultân Ya'qûb's death took place two years earlier in AH 896 = AD 1490 (see also I thé, Bodl Lib Cat, No 987) It is possible that the poet dedicated it to his spiritual guide, Muhammad Yahyâ bin 'Ubayd Ullâh, who was then living, and whose praise the poet sings in the beginning of the poem

From the Society copy, foll 26<sup>n</sup>-32<sup>n</sup>, where the poet gives an account of his life and of the composition of his Bâg-1-Iram, we can gather the following informations

That the poet, being harassed by his enemies, had to leave his home —

وط من كه حبر اوطان نود صدر روي رمس حراسان نود همه نكساده معلى ، حون رير نر من حسنه كرده دندان نسر . . . . حون ر حد سد مرا نالي وطن نصروره ، سدم حالي وطن

The poet then goes on to say that, after reading numerous books on different subjects, he found ethics to be the best of all, and by studying thoroughly the works on that subject—

he collected sufficient materials, and wrote the present work in poetry, which he preferred to prose

ىهر اىسا دىنىر ھامة مى ، رقم نظم رد نيامة مى He further adds that in his present poem he has represented the ingular path under the garb of the fabulous story of Bihram and Babiuz—and says that he has distinctly named the authors of the Qit as and verses which he has quoted in this work —

On fol 30° the poem lile Ethe Ind Office I ib Copy No 1390 and Stewart p 73 is cilled بال ناء ارم

fol 135 Praise of Mir Ali Shir

fol 142 Praise of Sultan Ya qub

On fol 148b the poet speaks of Sultan Yaqubs library which he says continued repeated copies of valuable books written by the distinguished caligraphers Shaykh Mahmud Ja far (pupil of Mir Ali the inventor of Nastaliq) and Azhar a-pupil of Ja far (see Il dis Sprenger Oude Cat p 78) and many of them by Yaqût —

He also speaks here of a valuable Muraqqa which contained the finest specimens of the handwritings of all the celebrated caligraphers and the paintings of the eminent persons among whom the poet says khalil and Abd ill Hai were the least celebrated—foll 150°-151° Short accounts of Sultan Ya'qûb's attendants, physicians, poets, astronomers, and musicians fol 153° Two chionograms, viz, בלנ נענט and בלנ נענט of Sultûn Ya'qûb's death, composed respectively by the poet and Shaykh Najm-ud-Dîn

On fol 229b the following (otherwise unknown) anecdote of the Emperor Bâbar as told The poet possessed a Majmû'ah known as This Majmû'ah, which had a great reputation among the public, was esteemed very much for its useful contents as well as for being a fine model of caligraphy When Bâbar conquered Samaqand, he heard of the great fame of this Majmû'ah, and asked Banâ'î to send On receiving the Maima'ah Babai was charmed with its beauties, and offered five thousand dinhâms and dînârs But shortly after, Bâbar became ill and remained confined to bed for two months, during which period discontent prevailed among his aimy, and Sultân - 'Alî, takıng advantage of the opportunity, maiched against Bâbai While preparing to leave Samarqand, Bâbar suddenly remembered that he had not paid the promised price of the Majmû'ah to Banâ'î Although Bâbar was instigated by his courtiers to pay less heed to promises in such a perilous moment, he did not leave the place until he had seen his promise duly fulfilled

Besides natrating the story of Bahram and Bahrûz, the poet describes the five fundamental principles of Islâm, and mentions numerous anecdotes relating to moral and religious life This copy of the selection is written in a clear minute Nastaliq within sold and coloured borders with the headings in red. It is wormed throughout who at first adopted the poetical title of Sikkahi probably derived from the profession of his father a cutler (مكاك) was a native of Shiraz Having a natural aptitude for poetry Fig.au in his early youth travelled to Herat where he made acquaintance with the celebrated Jami His extraordinary genus and ardent zeal for poetry soon established his fame and by virtue of his diligence and eminent talent he soon surpassed others. He introduced a new and hitherto unknown style of poetry but this new style was so maliciously run down by the poets of Khurasin and the e of Sultan Husayns court that Tiguni had to leave the city and go to Tabriz where he found a very benevolent master in Sultan Ya'qub (A 11. 884–896 = A D 1479–1490), who duly appreciated the poet's wonderful merits, and gave him the title of مالت معرل, Baba-i-Shu'ara, or "father of the poets" Here he enjoyed the ceaseless bounties of the Sultan and gained the highest distinction

Taqî Auhadî, in his 'Uıafât,-fol 557°, says that in one of the battles of Shâh Ya'qûb, Fîgânî lost the dîwân which he had himself ananged, and that the existing dîwân is the outcome of his subsequent efforts. On the death of Sultân Ya'qûb, the poet went to Abîwaid, where he spent a portion of his life, and then set out on his last journey to Mashhad to visit the sacred tomb of the celebrated Imâm 'Alî Musî Radâ, the eighth Imâm of the Shî'âs, in whose praise poems are found in almost all the copies of the poet's dîwân

The author of the Lubâb-ut-Tawâiîkh, as stated by Rieu, p 651°, places Figânî's death in A H 922 = A D 1516, while Sâm Milzâ, in his Tuhfa-i-Sâmî, fol  $101^{\circ}$ , followed by almost all the Tadkiiah writers, fixes the poet's death in A H 925 = A D. 1519 The author of the Khulâsat-ul Afkâr, fol  $136^{\circ}$ , stands alone in placing the poet's death in A H 915 = A D 1509

Sâm Mirzâ, who was boin in A ii 923 = A D 1517 and died in A ii 984 = A D 1576, in his Tuhfa-i-Sâmî, composed in A ii 957 = A D 1550, expresses a bitter hatred against Figânî and condemns him in the following scandalous remarks

سبار حریص سراه ، و ندمست نوده دایم الاوماه ، در مسالها نیسر مسرد نعد از وماه ، نادساه مدکور (سلطان یعاوه ،) در سهر اَسورد ساکن سده حاکم آن دنار هن روز یکس سراه ، و یکس گوسه ، حبت او مفرر کرده نود که ناو مندادند و در اواحر کار او نجای رسند که مردم سرانجانه او را از نبی ما بیساح فرسادند و نا او هرل میکردند و او نواسطهٔ سومی حرص سراه ، نیمل میکرد الح

Sâm Mirzâ seems here to have intentionally omitted to mention that Figânî's sole object in visiting Mashhad in the latter part of his life was to make an atonement for his sins at the sacred tomb of the holy Imâm 'Alî Mûsî Radâ, and that he was treated there with great honour and distinction by the noble attendants of the sacred tomb

It will not be out of place to mention here that the early Persian poets observed a similarity of style in their poetry, which was carried on without any marked change for a long time till Kamâl-ud-Dîn * Isfahânî (d A H 635 = A D 1237, see No 54 above) made a departure from the style of his predecessors - Although Sa'dî of Shîrâz, to whom the oil in of poetry is ascribed and who died in AII 6J0 = AD 1291 (see No 91 above) Salmān of Sawah d AII 478 = AD 1376 (see No 117 above) and Hafir d AII 791 = AD 1388 (see No 131 above) have each and all adopted different styles and methods yet no small credit is due to our Figuri who in an age when the science of Peissin poetry had already reached its perfection and amidst such distinguished poets of Sultan Husanns court as Jāmi and others created a new style and a particular mode of expression quite different from the of his piedeces ors and contemporaries. This style was greatly applied and proudly imitated for a long time by such eminent poets as Wah. In Naziri Dimini. Urff Sanai Shifai Rukhā i ka.hi and others till the time of Mirza Saib (d AII 1088 = AD 1677) who again invented a new metre.

DÎWÂN-I-ÂSAFÎ

Beginning-

مار آناد حدایا دل ونوانی را نا مده مهر نبان هنم مسلمانی را

Arafi son of Khwajah Muqim ud Din Ni mat Ullah of Quhistan واحده آصفي بن حواجه مقسم الدين أوه الله طهساني during the time of Sultan Husayn Mirza Tho real name of the poet is not clearly mentioned in any Tadkiiah, and it seems probable that he derived his poetical name, Âsafî, from the office of his father, who for some time was the Wazîr or Âsaf of Sultân Abû Sa'îd Miizâ (AH 855-873 = AD 1451-1469) Âsafî was a pupil of Jâmî and a personal friend of Mîr 'Alî Shîr, and he surpassed most of his contemporary poets in eloquence and style. He also enjoyed for some time the companionship of Sultân Badî'-uz-Zamân (d Ali 920 = AD 1514), the eldest son of Sultân Husayn Miizâ. The author of the Âtasli Kadah, p. 201, says that Âsafr has also left a Masñawî in the metre of Nizâmî's Makhzan-ul-Asrâr

Various conflicting statements are found in the Tadkiias about the date of the poet's demise. But according to the best authorities, such as Habîb-us-Siyai, vol iii, Juz 3, p 316, Haft Iqlîm, fol 235b, Safînah (Ethé, Bodl Lib Cat, col 213, No 34), and Lubâb-ut-Tawâiîkh (see Rieu, p 651), the poet died in A H 923 = A D 1517. This date is supported by two versified chionograms, one, a Rubâ'î which is said to have been composed by the poet himself when he felt his death approaching at the age of seventy—

سالي كه رح آصفي بهداد نهاد هماد تمام كردو ار ناي اماد سد در همناد و مصرع ناريست سود رد نفا نكام هفتاد

The chronogrammatic value of the last line is 923, but some biographers, such as Taqî Auhadî, fol 88b, Ilahî (Oude Cat, p 71), the authors of the Riyâdeush-Shu'arâ, fol 34a, Khulâsat-ul-Afkâr, fol 19b, Majma'-un-Nafâ'is, fol 5b, Makhzan-ul-Garâ'ib, fol 44, etc, add 5 in 923 by reading with instead of instead of instead of instead of instead and conclude that the poet died in AH 928 = AD 1521 Another chronogram, by a contemporary poet, Amîr Sultân Ibiâhîm Amînî, gives the same date AH. 923—

حوں اصفی آں حسم حرد را مردم در اسم مدر اسم در ادر احل گست بہاں حوں ابحم برسبد دل ار می که حه آید تاریح می م ر دراء ، آمدہ رور دوم

Sâm Muzâ, fol 95<sup>b</sup> (followed by Taqî Kâshî, Oude Cat, p 21) and the author of Suhuf-1-Ibrahîm, fol. 71<sup>b</sup>, fix the poet's death in A H 920 = A D 1514

Qutb-ud-Dîn Amîr Hâjj, with his poetical title Unsî, الدين استر حاح السي , according to Amîn Râzî (Haft Iqlîm, fol 233b) and the author of the Safînah (Ethé, Bodl Lib Cat, col. 212, No 6), was from Tûn, but according to several others he was a native of Junâbâd, also called Junâbid and Gunâbâd (see Ya'qût, 11, p 120, where it is called Junâbid and also Kunâbid) Ilâhî (see Sprenger, Oude Cat, p 72), however, calls the poet a Sayyid of Herât Unsî flourished during the time of Sultân Husayn Mirzâ (A H 873-911 = A D 1469-1506), and was the constant companion of Mîn 'Alî Shîn (d A H 906 = A D 1500) and of the celebrated poet 'Abd-ur-Rahmân Jâmî

The set of Unsi's Ġazals, called (that is, forty Ġazals), in imitation of Khusraû, is said to have been composed by the poet in one sitting. Some thirty-three Ġazals in imitation of Hâfiz are also found in this copy (see the contents of the dîwân below)

The poet led a very humble life and spent the latter poition in seclusion. The greater part of the poet's dîwân is devoted to the praise of 'Alî and the Imâms. The author of the Habîb-us-Siyar, vol. in, Juz 3, p 341, says that Unsî has also left a Masnawî on the loves of Laylâ and Majnûn, the opening line of which, as he quotes, runs thus

According to Taqî Kâshî, Oude Cat, p 21, No 174 (where the name of the poet is probably misprinted as "Amîr Jâh" instead of "Amîr

LAYLÂ-U-MAJNÛN.

A poem on the loves of Laylâ and Majnûn in imitation of Nizâmî's Masnawî of the same style

By Hâtıfî

Beginning -

ایی نامه که حامه کرد نساد تو: ح قدول روریس ناد،

Maulânâ 'Abd Ullâh Hâtifî, was the sister's son of the celebiated 'Abd-ur-Rahmân Jâmî, and, like his uncle, was born in Khijird in the province of Jâm His biographeis unanimously admit that, as a Masnawî writer, he excelled almost all the poets contemporary to him. It is said that when Hâtifî went to Jâmî to ask Jâmî's permission to write the Khamsah in imitation of Nizâmî, he put Hâtifî to the test by ordering him to compose four verses in answer to four of Firdausî's satirical verses, and these the poet extemporized to the satisfaction of his uncle. On receiving his uncle's permission Hâtifî began with the Laylâ-u-Majnûn, opening it with a line said to have been the work of Jâmî as an auspicious sign

When Shah Isma'îl was returning from the conquest of Khurasan, he happened to pass the gate of Hatifi's garden where the poet had secluded himself Finding the door closed, the Sultan managed to have

It was on this occasion that the Sultin ad of Histfi to versify his conquests, and to this request the poet yielded but he lived only to compose a thousand verses of the intended poem, which had it been completed says Sim Mizza would have surpassed all his other Masnawis. ## SHÎRÎN-U-KHUSRAÛ.

A Masnawî on the loves of Shîrîn and Khusiaû in imitation of Nizâinî's poem of the same style

By Hâtıfî (see above number)

Beginning

In the introduction, after praising God and the prophet, Hâtifî informs us that, after finishing the Laylâ-u-Majnûn, the first Masnawî poem of his projected Khamsah, he took it to his uncle Jâmî, who, extremely satisfied with the work, directed Hâtifî to compose the present poem, and to dedicate it to the celebrated Mîr 'Alî Shîr, whose praise the poet begins thus

After plaising Mîl 'Alî Shîr as a just chief, a man of exceedingly benevolent disposition and a great pation of learning, Hâtifî speaks of 'Alî Shîr's high poetical talents and his noble attainments in the Persian and Turkish languages.

fol 13b. Beginning of the story

The epilogue is devoted to exaggerated praises of Jâmî, whom Hâtifî ranks above Khâqânî, Nizâmî, Sa'dî, Khusiaû, and Ḥasan, and iemaiks that Jâmî, like the sun, casts these luminaries into shadows

In the conclusion the poet sigs that he has avoided unnecessary prolivities in his poem which is full of meaning true in its purport and always to the point. The Masnawi ends with the following line.—

TÎMÛR NÂMAH.

A poetical record of the warlike explorts of Tîmûr în imitation of Nizâmî's Sikandar Nâmah

By Hâtıfı (see above)

Beginning

سام حداوند فکر و حرد سارد که تا که او یی برد

The poem is styled by the poet as منر نامه, a contraction of منر نامه, on fol 125b

سدند این حرنقان فرحنده رای نسوی نیر نامه ام رهنمای

In the introduction Hatifi after singing the preuse of Findausi in a few acree boasts that he is by no means inferior to Khaqani and Anwari in Qasidas nor can khusrañ and Hasan surpass him in Gazils. He futher ad is that Alexander and Timur were the only two mighty conquerors of the world and that Aizimi has sung the priese of the former while he has chosen the latter to be the here of his present poom—

ر اولاد آدم در صاحبتران گرفسد گسي کران با کران تمر حان و اسکندر فبلترس نکي ساه انزان نکي ساه روس نظامي که کان محن را نرف نوم مکندر نسي لعل <sup>۸</sup> نود نجر معر مرا نبر در که رنزم گهر ها نوصب تبر

After a few interesting remarks on the beauty and necessity of the poet begins thus with the story on fel 11 ---

نگارلده پخاس مالي ىسىد ىرىي ىرلىان سد چىس ال

In the epilogue on fol 125 the poot enumerates his provious poems —

گرفتم ز لبلي و معنون له
وزان حورت دعوتم شد درست
شد ان نقس فرح هو گنتي نسبد
ر صبرين و حسوو شدم ا<sup>د</sup>
هو نار آمدم ران همنون شفر
سوي ه منظر فگندم لطر

On the same false the poet after semanling that the Silandar Namah of Nizami is nothing more than a fabulous story observes that in this poem he has given the true account of the warlike deeds and conquests of Tîmûr, which he has gathered from reliable sources, one of which, the Zafar Nâmah, he names.

By this كر المن the poet evidently means the Zafai Nâmah, the well-known history of the reign of Timûr from his birth to his death (а.н 736-807 = а в 1336-1405), completed in а н 828 = а в 1424 by Sharaf-ud-Dîn 'Alî Yazdî (d а н 858 = а в 1454) See Rieu i, р 175, Ethé, Bodl Lib. Cat, Nos 153-159, Ethé, Ind Office Lib Cat, Nos 173-186, eto

The occurrence of the name مافر المه in the verse quoted above probably has led many to apply that title to the present poem of Hâtifî. Thus in the Haft Iqlîm, fol. 206b, it is called مافر المه تسورى, in Z D. M G, xiii, p. 340, No 252, and W Pertsch, Berlin Cat, p 891, No 908, the poem is called مافر المه مسلوم; while Hâj Khal., iv, p 176, calls it simply مافر المه المعادية الم

The poem has been lithographed in Lucknow under the title والمناه المناه المنا

This splended copy is written in a beautiful clear Nasta'lîq, within gold and coloured ruled borders, with a small beautiful frontispicce, and a decorated double-page 'unwân in the beginning

The original folios are mounted on various coloured new margins. The last folio has lately been added in a modern hand. The headings are written in gold.

The Futûh-ul-Haiamayn has been wrongly ascribed by some to Jâmî (see Stewart and Sprenger referred to above) owing to a very careless reading of his name which occurs in the following verse—one of several verses quoted in this Masnawî from the seventh Maqâlah of his Tuḥfat-ul-Ahrâr

The poem has also been ascribed by some scribes to the holy saint Muhî-ud-'Abd-ul-Qâdir of Jîlân (d AH. 561 = AD 1165), as will be seen from the following copy

A lithographed edition of the poem, ascribed to the above saint, was published in Lucknow, A H 1292

The name of the poem occurs in this copy on fol. 4<sup>n</sup> —

The name of the author is found on fol  $3^a$  as well as on fol  $29^b$  — (fol  $3^a$ )—

Three Tarkîb-bands are found on fol 23b, the first begins thus -

The contents of the poem have been described in the Jahrbucher ( $l\ c$ )

This copy, written in Mecca, contains gold and beautifully painted drawings representing the Haram, mosques, wells, mountains, and the tombs of the descendants and relatives of the prophet They are on foll 6<sup>b</sup>, 12<sup>b</sup>, 13<sup>b</sup>, 14<sup>b</sup>, 15<sup>b</sup>, 16<sup>a</sup>, 18<sup>a</sup>, 19<sup>a</sup>, 20<sup>a</sup>, 23<sup>a</sup>, 26<sup>a</sup>, 27<sup>b</sup>, 28<sup>a</sup>, 28<sup>b</sup>, and 29<sup>a</sup>

A modern copy of the same Tutah ul Haramayn

This copy begins with the initial line of the Makhzan ul Asrir of Vizimi (see No 37 above) in the metre of which Muhyi composed the present poem

Beginning -

The second line in this copy is the usual initial line of the pocm in most copies (See Rieu ii p 655 Sprenger Oude Cit p 451 Lthe India Office Lib Cat No 1417 etc ctc) It runs thus  $\underline{\phantom{a}}$

This copy contains more than the preceding one. It bears the full quotation of the seventh Maqalah of James Tuhfit ul Ahrar, and in addition to the three Tarkîb-bands of the preceding copy, it contains seven more Tarkîb-bands, which begin thus on fol 43b

A very ridiculous attempt has been made to ascribe the poem to the holy şaint Muhî-ud-Dîn 'Abd-ul-Qâdii of Jîlân (d A ii 561 = A d 1165) The name of Jâmî which occurs in some of his verses, quoted in this poem, has been boldly altered to that of Muhî For instance, the fifth line on fol 11°, instead of عامی اران روی تعلق نبود Again, the last line of the seventh Maqâlah of Jâmî's Tuhfat-ul-Ahiâr quoted here (fol 13°) reads عامی اگر حد الے instead of میں اگر حد الے استخاص کی اگر حد نه صاحب دل است

Moreover the following story about the great saint 'Abd-ul Qâdir is narrated at the end of the MS. It is said that Sultân Sanjar (A H 511-552 = A D 1117-1157), the third son of Malik Shâh Siljûqî, as a token of his sincere belief in 'Abd-ul-Qâdir, once sent him an invitation, and offered him the royal throne and the entire kingdom under his possession. The saint, heedless of worldly luxures, refused the offer, and sent in reply the following Rubâ'î to the Sultân —

حوں حمر مسجری رح نصم مساہ ناد نا ممر اگر نود هوس ملك مسجرم نا يام سب حال مل آل دوم دم سا، صد ملك بسرور نبك حو نكى حرم

Thus disappointed, the Sultân sent an embroidered ivory throne to 'Abd-ul-Qâdii, and requested the saint that, if he could not come in person to his (Sultân's) country, he should honour him at least with his portrait. The saint accepted the throne and sent a portrait to the Sultân. From this throne 'Abd-ul-Qâdii is said to have delivered sermons to his attendants and followers.

Like the preceding, this copy also contains numerous drawings representing the Haram, mosques, tombs, etc

Written in an ordinary clear Nasta'liq, within gold and coloured ruled borders, with a double-page 'unwan and a small decorated frontispiece

Not dated, apparently the latter part of the 17th century

DÎWÂN-I-HILÂLÎ

A fragment of the diwar of Hilali

ای نور شدا در نطر از رری تو ما را نکدار که در روی تو ۱ م شدا را

مولانا بدر الدير alled Hilah وMauling Bidrul Din poctically called Hilah ما لحي الاسترابادي, was a native of Astarabid and by origin was a Cha_tar Turk It is said that in his early days Hiluli was in the halit of producing unintelligent verses and to have thus on one cocasion incurred the displeasure of the celebrated Mir Ali Shir to such an extent that he was driven out of the Wazir's presence. In his early youth Hilah again went to Herit and gained the favour of Ali Shir who perfectly satisfied with the remarkable improvement of the joet personally undertook the supervision of his education and his poems shortly after received the highest approbation of the eminent Wazir and others Besides the diwan Hilali left two other Ma nawis viz. Shah u Darwish (see Rieu ii p (56 Sprenger Oude Cat p 427 Little India Office I ib Cat Nos 149(-1499 I the Bodl I ib Cat Nos 1029-1025 W Lortsch Berlin Cat pp 36 711 and 895 J Aumer p 3 Cat des MSS et Volographes p 389) and Safat ul Ashiqin (see Ethe Bodl Lib Cat No 1026 Etho India Office I ib Cat Nos 1430 and 1431 W Lertsch Berlin Cat pp 64 and 8% G Flugel 1 p .80 Cut des MSS et Vylographes p 300) Sam Muzz fol 90 supported by the authors of the Habib us Siyar vol in Juz 3 p 350 Haft Iqlim fol 30.5 Urafat fol 8006 and several others says that Hilah has also left another Masnawi I ayla u Majnun But Ah Quh Khan Walih in his Riyad ush Shu ara fol 460 emphatically denies the composition of the Layla a Majnan by Halali

It is said that after completing the Shahan Darwish Hilah presented the poem to Badi uz Zuman Mitza (d an 920 = a D 11) the oldest son of Sultan Husaya Mitza (vii 8 (3-011 = a D 1469-1506))

and the prince, being greatly pleased with the work, amply rewarded the poet

When 'Ubayd Ullâh Khân Uzbek conquered Herât, Hilâlî addressed a Qasîdah to the Khân and was admitted to his service. But the poet did not live to enjoy the Khân's favour long, as Mullâ Baqâ'î Lang and Maulânâ Shams-ud-Dîn Quhistânî, and several other persons of the Khân's court conceived a bitter malice against the poet, and accused him of being a Shî'ah heretic. Consequently the innocent Hilâlî was murdêred by the Khân's order

In one of our copies of the Tuhfa-i-Sami, dated an 968, the date of Hılâlî's death is fixed in A H 936 = A.D 1529This date is also found ın Raqîm (see Rosen Institut, p 126) as well as ın Taqî Auhadî, fol 800b, Riyad-ush-Shu'ara, fol 465h, Khazana-1-'Amriah, fol 396h, Makhzan-ul-Gaiâ'ıb, tol 1006, Natâ'îj-ul-Afkâi, p 466, Nashtar-i-It is further supported by a statement that the 'Ishq, fol 2028, etc man who executed Hılâlî was named عدا ، وحده, and that عدا ما the chronogrammatic value of which is 936, formed the Tarikh of the poet's death Another copy of the same Tuhfa-1-Sûmî, dated AH 971, gives the poet's death in AH 939 = AD 1532, and this date is See also Rieu, 11, p 656, Spienger, Oude also found in Atash Kadah Cat, p 426, Ethé, Bodl Lib Cat, No 1019, Ethé, India Office Lib Cat, No 1423, W Pertsch, Berlin Cat, pp -147, Nos 3 and 701, No 38, G Flugel, 1, p 593, J Aumer, p 35

The dîwân of Hılâlî has been lithographed in Lucknow in A ii 1263 and 1281, and in Cawnpore, A ii 1281

This copy of the dîwân contains only Gazals up to the letter 3, and breaks off abruptly with the line

اسعار او ستر گربه وامع سده

Although Sam Mirza who says that he had the opportunity of readin, It am s poems occasionally passes the above remark on the poems of the poet yet Taqu Auhadi (fol 633) who saw about ten thousind verses of I sam gives him a high place among the poets of the latter period and after observing that the poet adopted the style of Hafiz Figure and Shahudi says that Lusun was particularly well versed in Quadas and Grazis —

حصوصا غرل و مصده حیان کسه که ساند و ناند در معارلت سیم ساری نل معیره نوداری فرموده

and that he was followed and imitated by Sharif Sharifi Wahshi Muhtashim and Damini

It is said that Maulana Sharif of Tabriz (see No 233 below) a pupil of I is in being je dous of his master s celebrity collected a number of faul verses from the diwin of his master and successivally styled them السائي مهو اللساني مهو اللساني مهو اللساني دو مهو اللساني دو ا

In the beginning of the year AH 941 = AD 1534, when Shah Sulayman of Ram was marching upon Tabiaz, Lisana died in the course of his prayer in the mosque of the city and was buried in Surkhab According to Khushga, as stated by Spienger (Oude Cat, p. 475), the poet died in AH. 991 = AH 1583, but this seems improbable.

The poetical works of Ahlî Shîrâzî.

The author of the Suhuf-1-Ibrâhîm, fol 99°, says that Ahlî Shirâzî was a friend of the celebrated philosopher Dawwani who died in AH 908 = AD 1502, see Rieu, p 442b There is a great danger of the poet's being confounded with his contemporary namesakes, Ahlî Tûrânî, a pupil of Jâmî, who died in AH 902 = AD 1406, see Safinah, No 4 (col 212 in Ethé, Bodl Lib Cat), and Ahlî Khurâsânî, who died in AH 934 = AD 1527, see Sprenger (Oude Cat., p. 319), and Ahlî of Irân, who flourished during the time of Shâh Tahmâsp, see Safinah, No 75 (col. 214 in Ethé, Bodl Lib Cat) In addition to his being well versed in the various kinds of poetical composition, he possessed wonderful ingenuity in the artifices of versification he composed a poem in plaise of Mîi 'Alî Shîr, in imitation of the wellknown artificial Qasîdah (قصبلة مصنوعي) of Salmân, and sent it The poem met with the highest approbation of the to the wazîı learned wazîr, who, along with other distinguished poets of the imperial court, declared it to surpass even the poem of Salman reputation was further established by the composition of his wonderful Masnawî Sihi-i-Halâl, in which he combined all the beautics of Kâtıbî's two separate poems, the Majma ul-Bahıayn and the Tajnîsât, also called the Dah Bâb. Ahlî died at an advanced age in Shîiâz in AD 943 = AH 1536, and was builed in Musallâ by the side of Hâfiz Mullâ Mîrak, a contemporary of Ahlî, gives the date of the poet's death in the following line of a versified chronogram —

DÎWÂN-I-MÎRAM SIYÂH

A good copy of the diwan of Miram Sijah Miram Sijah who also adopted the poetical title of Pir , and a second of his frequent residence in Herit he is generally known as Miram Sijah of Horat According to Paqi Auliudi fol 1049 and the author of the Rijah also Shu ara fol 349 he was a disciple of Bibi Ali Shah Abdal and be louged to the Malamathy th seet that I the sect of the Safis who are apparently sinful but religious at heart. To this the poet himself refers thus on fol 939 of this copy—

اي من رعاسفان سبدا نگرير ور درد كسان بي سر و با نگريز ار كوحهٔ عامب ، مناهاد ، ما ما اهل ما مگرير

Sâm Milzâ, în his Tuhfa-i-Sâmî, fol ·129b, says that Mîlam Siyâh of Helât was a man of amiable disposition, and passed a very deplayed and dissolute life, as, he says, may very well be judged from his own verses, while Amîn Râzî (Haft Iqlîm, fol 199b), in defending the poet, states that Mîlam was noble in disposition, pure of faith, and spent his time in constant devotion to God, but that, in order to conceal his mysteries, he composed and spread abroad indecent and licentious verses

The precise date of the poet's demise has not been fixed by any biographer Di Rieu in his Supplement, p 221, on the authority of Sâm Milzâ's Tuhfa-1-Sâmî (composed in about AH 957 = AD 1550), alleges that the poet was then living at the time of composition of the said Tadkiiah, and Di Ethé in his India Office Library Cat, No 2061, probably on this statement of Di Rieu, asserts that Milam was still alive in AH 957 But in the two copies of the said Tuhfa-i-Sâmî in this library, one dated AH 968 (AD 1560) and the other AH 971 (AD 1563), both of which were written during the lifetime of the author (Sâm Muzâ died in Au 984 = AD 1576) and only ten and thuteen years after the composition, the poet is not only spoken of in the past tense, but it is distinctly said that he died in Mawara-un-Nahi clear that Mîram was still alive in the reign of Humâyûn (AH 937-963 = AD 1530-1556), at least in the beginning of it, as we can conclude from the poet's letters addressed to this emperor corresponded with Sultan Husayn Minza (A H 873-911 = A D 1468-1505), Bâbai (A H 899-937 = A D 1493-1530), Shâh Ismâ'îl Safawî (A H 909-930 = AD 1503-1523), Husayn Wâ'ız Kâshıfî (d AH 910 = AH 1504), and other contemporaries of these well-knowh persons Mînam's correspondence with the above-named persons, is noticed in Ethé, India Office Lib Cat, No 2061

For notices on the poct's life, see, besides the references quoted above, Majma'-un-Nafà'is, vol 11, fol 458<sup>b</sup>, Khulâsat-ul-Afkâi, fol 189<sup>b</sup>, Makhzan-ul-Gaià'ib, fol 797, etc

According to the following verse in the conclusion it would appear that the poet completed this dîwân in A H 911 = A D 1505 -

ایی سمه که هممو روي حود کرد ساه در برصد و یارده باسام رسید

The contents of this copy closely agree with those of the Ricu Supplement p 221

Begins with the following Tarji band followed by a preface —

The burden runs thus -

The preface begins thus on fol 3b -

حمد سعد دانانی را که صورت نظم ندنع کانیات رفمرده کلات

In this preface the poet says that in writing these licentious and observe poems he has followed the fortsteps of Sada and other Sufipoets and that he has like them represented pure Sufic thoughts under the veil of sensual expressions

This collection of the Rubâ'îs is alphabetically arranged and seems to be incomplete, as the MS ends with a Rubâ'î ending in the letter

A dîwân of Mîram with a different beginning is noticed in Ethe, Bodl Lib Cat, No 1029

On one occasion Sharif addressed a Qasidah in praise of Gijas ud Din Ah Shirazi known as Gijas Kalirah a distinguished officer in the court of Shah Tahmasp Safawi but recurring no reward in return Sharif ievenged himself by writing a satire on the said officer. The matter was brought to the notice of the king and he was offended to such an extent that he passed an order for the immediate execution of the poet. On being requested by Sharif the king personally read the Qasidah which he tool to be a mere jest. The poet however addressed another Qasidah to Gijas as an apology and was in return handsomely rewarded.

dîwân-i-haydar-i kalûj

The lyrical poems of Haydar i Kalûj consisting of Gazals in alphabetical order and a few Ruba is at the end

Beginning —

اي در دو حهان دول ، وصلت هوس ما وصل تو نحمد گونه هوس ملتمس ما ما ما ما حمده دلان داد دل حود ر که حوا ه م حون نسب ، کسي حدر تو مریاد رس ما

Haydar-1-Kalûj, حدر کلوح, was, according to Sâm Mirâ and other reliable authorities, a native of Herât in Khurâsân. Wâlih in Riyâd-ush-Shu'arâ, fol 96b, in supporting the above statement, quotes the following verse of the poet (not found in this copy)

But unfortunately, the above verse simply means "From Khurâsân Haydar intended to go to 'Irâq," and does not necessarily imply that the poet was a native of Khurâsân

Haydar was born during the reign of Shâh Ismâ'îl Safawî I (AH 907-930 = AD 1502-1524), and his celebrity as a poet was fully established in the reign of Shâh Tahmâsp Safawî (AH 930-984 = AD 1524-1576)

Although Haydar was quite illiterate, as is unanimously admitted by his biographers, yet the beauty of his style and the sublimity of his ideas are so perfect that he can by no means be ranked inferior to the learned poets of his age, and it is said that he excelled most of his contemporaries in lyrical poems and occasional extempore verses. The author of the Makhzan-ul-Garâ'ib, fol 193, says that Haydar used to carry writing materials about with him, and whenever any verse occurred to him he asked the passers-by to note it down. In his early days he took to the profession of a baker, and hence is known as Haydar-i-Kalûj. Contented with the small income of his trade, which he frequently carried as far as India, he never sought the favour of nobles and princes.

Sâm Milzâ says that Haydar's Gazals excelled his other compositions and that the poet has left about ten thousand verses. The author of the Khulâsat-ul-Afkâr, fol 50° (margin), mentions having possessed a copy of the poet's dîwân containing three thousand verses. This copy consists of a little more than eight hundred verses.

The poet died, according to Taqî Kâshî (Oude Cat, p 22) and other reliable authorities, in A H 959 = A D 1551

KITÂB-I-MU'JIZÂT.

A Masnawî poem in the metre of Jâmî's Yûsuf Zalîkhâ, dealing with the miracles performed by the prophet, 'Alî and other Shî ah Imâms, with some other important incidents connected with their lives

By Hayratî of Tûn

Beginning

الهيٰ ار دل س سد بردار مرا در سد حوں و ۸ له مگدار

Maulânâ Hayratı, مولانا منحمد تقى الدين حرتي النوبي, as stated by himself, as well as by Amîn Râzî in his Haft Iqlîm, fol 233b, Âzâd ın his Khazâna-i-(Âmiiah, fol 138°, Âdur, in his Âtash-Kadah, p 95, and some others, was a native of Tûn, but the fact that the poet was brought up in Merv and died in Kâshân has caused great confusion among the biographers in assigning the biithplace of the poet , author of the Makhzan-ul-Garâ'ıb, fol 194, fixes Bukhâıâ as the birth-Ilâhî, ın hıs رايمه (Sprenger, Oude Cat, p 75) place of the poet calls the poet a native of Merv Others style him as Hayratî Samarqandî (see Blochmann's translation of Â'în-1-Akbarî, vol 1, p. 187) Again Arzû, in his Majma'un-Nafâ'is, vol 1, fol 122a, makes the poet a native of Mâwarâ-un-Nahr (Transoxania), and is of opinion that there were two other poets of this name, viz, Hayiatî Kâshânî and Hayiatî Samaiqandî. Azâd ın hıs Khazâna-ı-'Amırah, loc cit, says that Mırzâ 'Alâ-ud-Daulah Qazwînî, a contemporary of Hayratî, in his Nafâ'ıs-ul-Maâsır, compiled AH 973-982 = AD 1565-1574, calls Haylatî a native of Tûn ever, Hayratî flourished during the reign of Shâh Tahmâsp Sâfawî (A H 930-984 = A D 1524-1576) Although he enjoyed unlimited royal favours, yet he, on account of his constant habit of drinking, very often incurred the displeasure of this monarch

Being a ficree Shi ah of the most bigoted nature he conceived a bitter hatred against the Summs and took delight in writing states on them and in advising the first three caliphs. It is said that on one occasion some of the courtiers of Shah Tahmasp being jealous of the poets position took some of these satured verses to the king and alleged that Hayrit was so ungriteful as to write satures on His Majesty Being afraid of falling a victim to the writh of the king Hymri fied to Gilan. He however regained royal favour by compoing a beautiful Qisidah in praise of Ali in whose name he supplicated the mercy of the king.

The poet subsequently went to Kagh in where he died by a fall from the roof of his house on the 5th of Safar an 961 = an 1554 This date is fixed by his contemporary Muhtashim in the following versified chrono-prim —

The words حفاعت على are equal to 961

Another chronogram expressing a more precise date is —

The chronogrammatical value of the second line is 961

The author of the Âtash Kadah gives a later date of the poets death viz Au 970 = AD 1.6° (See Ethe Bodl Lib Cat col 267 No 148) Still later is the date given in the Safinah (see Ethé Bodl Lib Cat col 21° No 253) where it is stated that the poet died in Au 989 = AD 1581 on a journey to Kachmir in Akbus reign

Besides the present work the poet has left a diwan (see Sprenger Oude Cat p 424 Rieu p 874 Fthe Boll Lib Cat No 1031 Lthe Ind Office Lib Cat No 1430 etc) He is also said to have left another Masna i called مسوي كلرار in imitation of Sadis Büstan The total number of his verses is said to be about forty thousand

For notices on the poets life see basiles the references given above Tulka i Suni fol 103° Riyad ush Siu ara fol 101 Nashtar i Ishq fol 4.0° Suhuf i Ibrahim fol 230° Nata ij ul Afkar p 1.70 Khulas it ul Afkar fol 2°6° ote

In the prologue of the poem fel 9 the poet after praising God the prophet and Ali says that he had already immortalized his name by his Qasdas Gazals and Ruba is but had a long folt desine to compose a Marnawi poom One day when he was present in the court a man from Shîrâz came with a book entitled Bahjat, dealing with the lives and miracles of the prophet, 'Alî, and other holy Imâms That agreeably to his wish he was ordered by the king to turn the whole work into verse. Hence the present composition

The book is divided into forty-four sections, which are described in

Rieu Supplt, No 303

In the epilogue the poet draws a comparison between the Shah Nâmah of Firdausî and his present work, and says that he has dealt with the true and sacred accounts of the prophet, 'Ali, and other holy Imâm's, while Firdausî has wasted his energy in narrating the fabulous stories of the infidels

The date of composition, viz, A ii 953, is obtained from the title of the work slightly altered

The words . ..., which are the Imalah of the title of the work, are equal to 953

In the last line but one the poet says that the poem consists of twenty thousand and eight hundred verses —

Written in a fair Nasta'liq, within gold-ruled borders, with a faded hontispiece. The headings are written in red

DÎWÂN-I-MIRZÂ KÂMRÂN

An exceedingly valuable and unique copy of the diwan of Mirza Kamran brother of the Emperor Humayan bearing the autographs of the Emperors Jahan<sub>e</sub>u and Shah Jahan and the scals and signatures of many distinguished nobles and officers of the courts of Albar Jahangir Shah Jahan and others. This splendid copy is the handwork of the celebrated culgrapher Mahmdd bin Ishaq eth Shihabi of Herat who wrote it during the lifetime of the author.

According to the author of the Mirat ul Âlam fol 417 Mullana Khwalah Muhmûd was a pupil of the celebrated cahgrapher Mir Ah (for life see No 195 above) Mahmûd was well skilled in writing bold as well as minute hands and had also a taste for poetry. Being unable to cope with the superior talents of his muster Mahmûd very often circulated his own handwritings and poetical compositions in the name of Mir Ah, who alludes to this in the following Qit ah quoted in the Mirat ul Âlam (loc ctt)—

حواحه محمود آلکه تکمندی بود ساگرد این حقیر فشر بهرنعلیم او دلم حون سد تا ۱۰۰۰ نافت صورت نمرانر

foll 236-34 Short Masnawi poems. There are about eighteen Masnawi poems of which only four which are very short are I ersi in

The first Persian Masnawi poem, consisting of six lines, begins thus on fol 29<sup>b</sup> —

It should be observed here that the verses of the above Masnawi poem closely correspond with the Yûsuf-Zalikhâ of Jâmi — For instance, the first of the above verse consists only of two different parts of the following two separate verses of Jâmî.

In one place of the Yûsuf-Zalıkhâ (Cal Edn, p. 118) we read -

سی بردار این شبرین مسانه حدی آرد مسانه درمیانه

Again, on p 134 we find the following — حین پیرای باع این حکایہ، حین کرد از کہی بیران رو ایہ ،

The second Persian Masnawi poem, of five verses, begins thus -

تا چه سارد چهان يې سروين ، عامل ار مكو آسمان كهن ، روس كارم ر دست و دست ار كار سس ، كارم يعبر باله و رار . . . الح

The third one of six lines runs thus on fol 30° —

مه نو حم شدهٔ انرو به ،، لاله حونس حکري از رو یه ، کل ر دست تو گریبان رده حالئه بي تو انداحته حود را نر حالئه . الح

The fourth one is a ماحي مامه, and consists of nine verses. It begins thus —

نيا ساقي آن مي كه خان نرورست كه خان خرين مرا در شورمت بين ده كه دوران تكس ، بي نصد خان خرين ، الج

The diwan ends with a short Trose epilogue in Turki intermixed with verses

The colophon reads thus -

لست دنوان حصرة الأعلي حفظه الله تعالي عن الافات و المايا علي يد العدد المره * معبود بن اسحق المهابي الهوري على طريق الاستعمال

The words المائي عن الافات و المايا hbw that Kamran was alive when this copy was written

On fol 1 the autograph of the emperor Jahangir runs as follows -

الله اكب

On the right hand side of this is the following note by the emperor Shah Jahan in his own handwriting ---

تو

العمد لله الذي الرل علي عندة الكناب حررة ساة حهان ابي ههالكتر نناه بن اكتر نناة

The following note on the same folio says that this copy was also in the possession of Nar un Nisa Begam the wife of Jahangir —

مي مهر

On the fly-leaf at the end one note reads thus —

The following maiginal note, in the same hand as the copy itself, is found at the end of the MS. —

Besides these there are numerous seals and notes showing that the MS passed through the hands of Mun'im Khân Khân Khânân, Maymanat Khân, Muhammad Sâlih, Muhammah 'Alî, Khwâjah Suhayl, Aishad Khân, Muhammad Bâqai, Nûr Muhammad, 'Abd-Ullâh Chalapî, and many other distinguished nobles and officers of the Courts of the Mugal emperors

Several notes bear the dates A H 984, 987, 990, 992, etc

The copy is written in a beautiful clear Nasta'lîq, within gold-ruled borders.

DÎWÂN-I-SHARAF-I-JAHÂN-I-QAZWÎNÎ.

A valuable copy of the dîwân of Sharaf-1-Jalıân

Mirzâ Shaiaf, better known as Shaiaf-i-Jahân (according to Barbiei de Meynard, Dictionnaire Géogr, p 444, footnote, he is called Ashiaf Jahân), סענו שני ייני שלים האלים שלי ייני שלים האלים ולשנים אול, son of Qâdî Jahân, was born, according to the author of the Haft Iqlîm, in Qazwîn, on Wednesday morning, the 18th of Rabî' II, A H 902 = A D 1496, and belonged to a very noble Sayyıd family of that place His grandfather Sayyıd Sayf-ud-Dîn was a favourite courtier of Sultân Uljaytû Khân (A H 703-716 = A D 1303-1316), and his father Qâdî Jahân held for some time a very influential post under Shâh Tahmâsp Safawî of Persia, who reigned from AH 930-984 = AD 1523-1576 (according to the author of the Tabaqut Akburi in Elliots History of India vol v p 219 Qadi Jahan was the diw in of Shah Tahmasp). Regarding the honourable pedigree of Sharaf Sim Muzi in his Tuhfu i Sami writes thus —

Sharaf was brought up and educated under the direct supervision of Shah Tahmasp whose friendship the poet enjoyed up to his last hour. He was one of the most eminent scholars of his time and according to some biographers enjoys the reputation of being the best poet of his time in Qazwin. The following remarks of Adur bear testimony to the comprehensive learning of the poet—

اكبر اوبات علما و سعوا در حدمت انسان كامناب مقاصد مي نوده اند و در موانب مصوري نرعم فقنز در فروين كسي نا نمال پيدلون رنان و ملاحت نمان انسان لنوده نلكه سوامد معاصرين حود نوده الح

The same Âdur followed by the author of the Majma ul l'usaha says that Sharaf was a pupil of the celebrated Amir Giyas ud Din Minsur of Shinaz (b all 900 = ad 1494 d all 948 = ad 1541) who is the author of the work Alhlaq i Minsūri באלים השפנים (see Rieu p 826) and who on account of his vast learning received two honorific epithets viz Ustad ul Bashar השלים (a title also given according to a mar, in al note on fol 98% of the copy of the Haft Iqlim Ao 7% in Ethe India Office Lib Cat to the celebrated Khwajah Nasir ud Din Tusi) and Aql i Hadi Ashar שלים באלים האלים האלים

The author of the Suhuf 1 Ibrahim on the authority of Taqi Kashi stites that the poet has left about three thousand verses

Amîn Râzî, while precisely placing Sharaf's death on "the evening of Sunday, the 7th of  $\underline{D}$ ilqa'd, A H 962 (A D 1554)"

، در منام یکسسه هدم ذهعده بهمد و سمس و دو وماه، امس، quotes the following chionogiam

the numerical value of which is 968

D1 Ethé, in his India Office Lib Cat., col 472, No 1257, wrongly interprets the meaning of in the above line as "Syria" instead of "evening" The same year of the poet's death, viz, A II 962, is also given by the author of the Miftâh-ut-Tawâiîkh, while the other date, A II 968 = A D 1560, is given by Taqî Kâshî (Sprenger, Oude Cat, p 22), the author of the Suhuf-1-Ibiâhîm, and several others

The difference of six years in the two dates 962 and 968 is probably due to the two different readings of the chronogram quoted above. In some books the word &I (the numerical value of which is six) in the târîkh, as quoted above, is repeated, while in others, is used only once. The author of the Nafâ'is ul-Maâsir (Sprenger, Oude Cat, p. 50) stands alone in placing Sharaf's death in A H. 971 = A D. 1563 fol 1b A preface in prose by Sadi-ul-Husaynî.

Beginning —

بعد حمد الله مسعانه على بعود ، كماله و الصلوة علي السي العربي و آله الح

The author of this preface, who calls himself Sadi-ul-Husaynî, is probably identical with Sharaf-i-Jahân's son Amîr Sadi-ud-Dîn Muhammad, who is mentioned in the present tense by Amîn Râzî in his Haft Iqlîm, fol 318<sup>a</sup>, as an expert musician and a good scholar and poet of the age

In this preface Sadr-ul-Husaynî says that after making a selection of the poems of his father he collected the present dîwân and airanged the Gazals in the alphabetical order, except the one which his father had composed in his last moment, and which, therefore, Sadr-ul-Husaynî

Several Bahlûls are mentioned in the Tadkinas, but the meaginess of their accounts does not enable us to identify this Bahlûl with any of them, but from the word word which occurs after the poet's name in the colophon of a copy of his dîwân, dated a h. 970 = a d 1562, noticed in Rieu, ii, p. 659, it can be asserted that he died before that year. A copy of the dîwân with the same beginning, and a Waslat Nâmah, in imitation of Faiîd-ud-Dîn 'Attâi's Masnawî of the same name, ascribed also to Shaykh Bahlûl, are noticed in Sprenger, Oude Cat, p 370

DÎWÂN, I-BAHRÂM SAQQÂ.

A copy of the dîwân of Bahıâm Saqqâ

Bahıâm, with his poetical title Saqqâ, درويس نهرام صفا الساري, was a Chagatâ'î Turk of Bukhâiâ, and belonged to the silsilah of IIâjî Muhammad Khabûshânî, حامي مصد موساني (and not حامي مصد معناني), as Badâ'unî, vol 111, p 253, 1eads), who was a disciple of the celebiated Mîi Sayyid 'Alî Hamadânî (d A H 786 = A D 1384) in the fourth generation. Spiengei, Oude Cat, p 59, 1eads موساني instead of موساني, while the Society's copy of the Haft Iqlîm, p 663, 1eads عدوساني For موساني see Wustenfeld's Mu'jam-ul-Buldân, vol 1, p 243, vol 11, p 400 See also Daulat Shâh, pp 91, 281, and 351, and also Ethé, India Office Lib Cat, col 436, No 801 Saqqâ spent a great portion of his life in travelling and went on a pilgiimage to Mecca in A H 945 = A D 1538 This date is expressed by the following Qit'ah

(found on fol 170 of this copy) which the poet composed in commemora-

ار طوف اولىاي تعارا علي الدوام اندل رمسد فنص بسي نا من گذا رائعا نطوف كعنه روان ؟ م از لبار تا در حريم فنو رمل سارم التعا آمد ندا ز * بارج اين سفر سقا بگو « ، كه يا فغر السا

According to some writers Saqaa came to India during the raign of the emperor Humayan. The laudatory poems addre sed to Albar which are found in abundance in his diwan consince us that he received good treatment from this emperor. With some of his disciples Saqai devoted his life for some time to giving water to travellers at Albarabad. It is said that a descendant of his spiritual guide came to India and that Saqaa having given away to him all that he possessed set out alone for Ceylon. Some are of opinion that Saqaa died in Ceylon while according to others he died on his way to the island. The author of the Suhuf i Ibrahim says that he has seen the tomb of Saqai at Bardawan (in Bengal). See also the Objects of Antiquatiu Interest in Bengal. p. 1 where the tomb of Saqai in Bardawan is described is being in a fair state of preservation.

Bade uni remarks that Saqqa collected several diwans of his own but destroyed them himself and that oven the remaining one is of no small size. The present copy of the poets diwan consists of about four thousand verses. Taqi Auhadi had also seen a copy of the poets diwan containing the same number of verses.

Dr Sprenger followed by Dr Ethe (India Office Lib Cat No 1436) places Saqqis death in Au 962 = AD 1004 and quotes the following tarith also found on fol 171 of the present copy — نا درد و مصنب و غم آن یادگار حوبان رفت از حمان فالمي امرور سوی عشیل حون دید این گا آن نوی وفا ندارد آن سرو قد مورون فردوس کرد ماوا آن گل حورین چس رفت نرسندمس ر تارنح گریان گ<sup>اه</sup> — سقا — این باع ماند بی ما D1 Spienger is, however, of opinion that the above Qit'ah was composed by a different person than Saqqâ to express the date of the poet's death, but the sense of the Qit'ah makes it clear that Saqqâ himself composed it to record the date of death of some of his relatives or friends. Again, the date 962 is evidently too early. Besides the fact that Badâ'unî enumerates Saqqâ among the poets of Akhar's reign (AH 963-1014 = AD 1555-1605), the poet himself says on fol 242b of his dîwân that he used to attende the court of Akhar and received numerous favours from the emperor:

م و درونس رأ با سهرياري در ايام ح ون افناد كاري عيد ، فرحدة ساهي سرفراري همانون طلعني مسكس بواري سهساهي كه بود ابعام او عام حال الدين محمد اكبرش بام مرا بر آسنان او گدر بود برحمد ، سوي من او را اطر بود به تحب اگرة ميرل بود اورا مراد از بحب حاصل بود اورا براي باي تحب بادساهي ، سام دهلي آمد دين بياهي سام دهلي آمد دين بياهي

Again, the poet in some of his Masnawîs on foll 226<sup>b</sup>, 229<sup>b</sup>, etc., says that he composed them in A H 966 = A D 1558 fol  $226^b$

نه صد و سب ، و سس نماه حسور آمد ار عد ، نظم ما نطهور

Again, on fol 229<sup>n</sup>

نه صد و منصب و منس از هیبرد ، که نود ماهد معنی ندینسان رو نمود

From the above lines we can fairly conclude that Saqqâ was alive in A H 966 (A D 1558)

Again in the following lines on fol 229 we are distinctly told that the poet died in A H 970 = A D 1562 —

DÎWÂN-I MAYLÎ

Mirzu Muhammad Quli poetically known as Majli مرزا مصد was according to Bada uni vol in p 329 and other reliable authorities a native of Herat and is therefore better known is Mayli Harawi. But the author of the Atash Kadah p 34 says that the poet was born and grow up in Ma had. He belonged to the Qızılbâsh sect of the Turks. In his early life Maylî found a benevolent master in Sultan Ibrahîm Mirza (grandson of Shah Isma'ıl Safawî), a prince of great literary taste, whose learned society afforded the poet an easy chance of improving and cultivating his poetical talents After the death of this prince, Maylî came to India in A ii 979 = AD 1571 See Yad-1-Baydâ, fol 206, Nafâ'ıs-ul-Maâşıı (Spienger, Oude Cat, p 54), and Nashtar-1-Ishq, fol 1678 Taqî Kâshî (Spienger, Oude Cat, p 43), however, gives a later date, viz, A H 933 = AD, 1575, and enoneously says that the poet died on the road Bada'unî (loc cit), who gives Maylî a very high position among the poets of the close of the 16th century, 'ays that Maylî stayed in India for many years with Sayyid Naurang Khân, d A II 1002 = A D 1593(son of Qutb-ud-Dîn Khân, an Amîr of 5000 in the reign of Akbar), and that owing to some ill-feeling the poet was subsequently poisoned at the Sayvid's order and died in Malwah The same Bada'unî says that, the poet wrote several Qasidas in praise of this Sayyid Naurang Khân (

Some biographers relate that, with the object of getting an access to the court of Akbar, Maylî composed a beautiful Qisîdah in piaise of the emperor, but it so happened that Gazâlî Mashhadî (d Ah 980 = Ad 1572) somehow or other obtained a copy of this Qasîdah, and having added about thirty-two verses of his own he presented the poem in his own name to the emperor. Maylî, unaware of the trick, recited the poem in presence of Akbar, and to his utter humiliation was accused of having stolen the poem of Gazâlî. But we can hardly believe the story, since we know that Gazâlî was the first of the four poets who received the title of the four poets who received the first of the four poets who received

However, Maylî is reckoned among the best poets of the latter half of the 16th century, and is said to have held poetical discourses with Khwâjah Husayn Sanâ'î, Gazâlî, Wahshî, Walî of Dasht-i-Bayâd, and others Taqî Auhadî says that he possessed a collection of Maylî's Qasîdas and Tarkîb-bands numbering about two thousand and five hundred verses, and that he also repeatedly saw the same number of verses of the poet's Gazals

The authors of the Yad-1-Baydâ and the Nashtar-1-'Ishq place the poet's death in A H 983 = A D 1575 Wâlih and a few others, agreeing with the authors of the Yad-1-Baydâ and the Nashtar-1-'Ishq, say that Maylî's corpse was taken from Mâlwah to Mashhad and buried there, but Badâ'unî (loc cit) and other earlier biographers do not say anything in support of this statement

DÎWÂN-I-HIJRÎ-RÂZÎ

The lyrical poems of Khwajah Muhammad Sharif Hijri Ahwajah Muhammad Sharif Hijri of Ray حراهه محمده مریف better known as Hijri Rizi was the paternal uncle of the celebrated Amin Ahmad Pazi the author of the well known worl Hatt Iqlum quoted very often in this catalogue His son Khwajah

Giyâş-ud-Dîn Muhammad, better known as I'timad-ud-Daulah, was the father of Jahangir's wife Nur Jahan, and the famous Wazu of the emperor Another of his sons, Khwajah Muhammad Tahir, with -the Takhallus Wasli, was well versed in poetry. Taqi Anhadi saya that he saw Wash and his son Khwajah Muhammad Sadiq in Agrah in A H 1004 = A D 1505, but this date is evidently a bad reading for 1024, as Tagi came to India in A ii 1015 = A b 1606, and compiled his 'Urafat between AH 1022 and 1021 = AD 1613 and 1615 Highs brother Khwajah Muza Ahmad was in great favour with Shah Tahmasp, and was the کلاسر (or mayor) of Ray . Another of his brothers, Khwajah Khwajagi, was also well versed in poetry, and addressed a Rubât to Muhammad Khan Sharaf Ugh Taklû, who became the governor of Khurasan in AH 911 = AD 1534 High's nephew, Khwajah 'Abd-m-Rida, was also a poet and good tarikh writer Hipi, on his father's death, went to Ihuias in and become the Wazir of the aforesaid governor Muhammad Khan Sharaf Ugli Taklu, on whose death' the poet served the governor's son in the same capacity. After the death of Muhammad Khan's son, High entered the service of Shah Tahmûsp, first for seven years as Wazu of Yuzd, Abiquh, etc., and subsequently as Wazn of Islah in According to Ilahi Hijrî was a nephew of the celebrated poet Umid: See Sprenger, Oude Cat, p. 87

Maulânâ Damii, of Isfahan, the well-known court poet of Shah Tahmâsp Safawî and a contemporary of Hijri, gives the date of the poet's death as a is 984 = a is 1576 in the following chronogram—that is, one to be deducted from the numerical value of which is 985

This Hijrî of Ray must not be confounded with another poet of the same age and with the same Takhallus. The latter, according to Safinah (Ethé, Bodl Lib Cat, col 217, No 189), belonged to Fargânah and was a court poet of the emperor Akhar, and most probably is identical with the Hijrî mentioned by Badâ'um, vol 111, p 386, as a descendant of the famous Ahmad-1-Jâm Nâmagî

Notices on the life of Hijiî Râzî will be found in Haft Iqlîm, fel 297°, Taqî Auhadî, fol 800°, Majma'-un-Nafâ'is, vol 1, fol 538°, Riyâd-ush-Shu'arâ, fol 469°, Makhzan-ul-Garâ'ib, fol 1017, Âtash Kadah (Ethé, Bodl Lib Cat, col 279, No 461, where the poet is said to have died in Yazd), Nashtai-i-Ishq fol 2050, etc. See also Ethe, India Office Lib Cat, No 1440, where a copy of the poet's dîwân is mentioned

KULLIYÂT-I-WAHSHÎ.

The collected works of Maulana Wahshi

In comparing the poet with the distinguished Muhtashim of the same age, Taqî Auhadî remarks thus

وقمي كه مولانا معنسم طمطهٔ ساعريس قاه ، تا قاه ، كره به بود او (وحسي) در نوانو نواميد و طور نوي در عرصه آورد هم در زمان حماه ، او طور اورا مسوح كردانيد

He further states that at first he imitated Wahshî, specially in Gazals, and that he collected a kulliyât of the poet containing nine thousand verses consisting of Qasîdas, Gazals, Tarjî bands, Tarkîb-bands, Qitas, Rubâ îs and three Masnawîs, viz, Nâzir-u-Mauzûi, Khuld-i-Baiîn and

Tarhad u Shuin the latter of which he adds though very popular his been left incomplete by the poet and contains one thousand one hundred and fifty verses

Taqi gives the date of Wahshis death as A H 991 \(\sime\) A D 1083 in the following versified chronogram —

The above date of the poets death is also given by the author of the Mir at all Alam who quotes the following chronogram in support —

KULLIYÂT-I-'URFÎ

A defective copy of the poetical works of Urfi Shirari Maulana Sayvid Muhammad poetically known as Urfi مولانا صدد مصد لا مدلس به عرفي بي مولانا ربي الدين على بي مولانا عبال was the son of Maulana Zayn ud Din All son of Maulina Jamal ad Din of Shirar where the poet was born in or about AH 963 = AD 1000 The Man ir i Rahimi says that Urfi s name was Khwi jah Savyidi Vuhammad مواحه سندي محمد (and not hl wajah Saydı صدى مواحه , as stated by Dr Sprenger p 126 on the anthority of the Hami hah Bahir) It is conjectured that the poet derived his poetical title from the occupation of his father who it is said looked after the Shari and Usfi matters under the magistrate of Blifraz. At an early age Urfi left his native country and emigrated to the Decean but finding the place unsuitable for achieving success he left it and come to Lathpur Sikri where he made . the acquaintance of the celebrated I and Urfi at first received warm favours from his new friend but owing to a slight unpleasantness between them Urfi abandoned Taydi's company and shortly afterwards found a sincere patron in Hakim Masili ad Din Abul Lath Gilanf through whose kind influence the poet made acquaintance with 'Abd ur Rahim Khan i khanan After the death of Abul I ath in A II 297 = LD 1088 Urfi attached humself to the said Khan i khanan Khan 1 Khanan who himself a man of good literary taste fully appreciated the extraordinary toetical merit of Urff and was exceedingly pleased with his learned society I re long Urfi was introduced by the hhan i khanan to Akbar who duly rewarded the poet in various ways

Vory few of Urfis contemporary prets equal hun in celebrity and it is generally asserted that had he not died a premature death he would have been the master poet of the period a'unî says that although 'Urfî possessed sound learning and was ised in the various forms of poetry, yet, on account of his pride nity, he could not gain public sympathy. Of all his poetical the Qasîdas have been most popular even to the present day thor of the Âtash Kadah says that 'Urfî adopted a new style in îdas, which, according to Âzâd, are fai superior to the poet's and Masnawîs. 'Urfi followed 'Abd-ur-Rahîm Khân-i-Khânân expedition against Jânî Begrof Tattah in A H 999 = A D 1590, it of dysentery in Shæwwâl of the same year at Lâhûr at the age y-six years. Some writers suspected the poet had been poisoned, on enough fate in that age concordance with the above year the poet's contemporary her, Badâ'unî, quotes the following two chronograms عرمي and and مرائه مراه , and says that the poet in his last temposed the following Rubâ'i

عرمی دم نرع است و همان مسني تو آحر نصه مایه نار نر نسنې تو مرداست که دوست نقد مردوس نکه ، حویاي مناع اس ، و تهي دسني تو

î Kâshî (Sprenger, Oude Cat, p. 37), however, puts the poet's vrongly in A H 1002 = A D 1593 author of the Miftâh-ut-Tawârîkh, on the authority of the t-Jahân, relates that 'Urfî in his following Qasîdah, which he ed on his death-bed, had desired that his remains should be reted to Najaf, and that accordingly, some years after the poet's his bones were sent to that place by Mîr Sâbir Isfahânî and red there fol 1b A preface by some unknown author Beginning -

The anonymous author of this preface tells us that Munir wrote this commentary at the request of some of his friends but before he could finish it he departed for the next world He further states that Munir also left some of his previous compositions incomplete and that it was twenty-two years after the death of Munîr that, one night in the month of Ramadân, one of his Khâdims came from Burhânpûr and gave to the author of the preface this fragment of the commentary fol 5°. Beginning of the commentary --

The meanings of phiases and words are not given separately, but the explanations of the sense of whole passages are very learned

The copy ends with the commentary on the following lines

Other commentaries on 'Urfî are (1), סיום אול, Miftâh-un-Nukât, a commentary on difficult verses in thirty select Qaṣîdâs of the poet, by Milzâ Jân, compiled in אוו 1073 = אוו 1662, see Sprenger, Oude Cat, p. 530, and Rieu, ii., p 668 (2) און, Nigâr Nâma-i-Fayd, compiled in אוו 1111 = אוו 1699 by Muhammad Shafî' bin Shâh Muhammad Darwîsh, see Sprenger, Oude Cat, p 529 (3) By Maulavî Muhammad Wajîh, compiled by Maulavî Qutb-ud-Dîn in אוו 1101, see Sprenger, loc. cit, and (4) by Mullâ Sa'd Ullâ, Sprenger, loc cit.

Five different Turkish commentaries are noticed in G Flugel, 1, pp 594 and 595, the Qasidas have been printed in Calcutta, A ii 1254, with a commentary by Ahmad bin 'Abd-ur-Rahîm (see below), and with some Qit'as and Taijî'bands in Lucknow

Another commentary and a dîwân of 'Urfî also appeared in Lucknow in 1880 An English translation of selected Qasîdâs of the poet was published in Calcutta in 1887

DÎWÂN-I-FAYDÎ.

A very large copy of the lyncal poems of Shaykh Faydî

سع ابو العم ، سبي مناصبي بن سنع ,Shaykh Abul Fayd مارك باگوري, with the double poetical title of Faydî and Fayyadî, was born at Âgrah on the 1st of Sha'ban, A H 954 = 16th September, AD 1547 The family to which Faydî belonged traced its descent from an Arab Shaykh of Yaman, who lived in Sindh in the ninth century of the Muhammadan era. In the beginning of the tenth century Shaykh Khidi, the then head of the family, journeyed to Hindûstân and after many wanderings settled at Nâgûr, north-west of Ajmîi, where he secured the friendship of Mîr Sayyıd Yahyâ of In A H 911 = A D 1505, after the death of several children, a son was born to Shaykh Khidi, to whom he gave the name Mubâiak At an early age Mubarak found the opportunity of moulding and improving his character in the leained society of one Shaykh 'Atan, سجي الله who had come to Nâgûr in the leign of Sikandai Shâh Lodî (ан 894-923, = A'D 1488-1517). Shaykh Mubâiak, after the death of his mother, went to Ahmadâbâd in Gujarât, where he prosecuted his studies and made acquaintance with several distinguished personages, such as Shaykh Abul Fadl of Kâzarûn, Shaykh 'Umar of Tattah, and He subsequently settled on the 6th of Muhairam, Shaykh Yûsuf AH 950 = AD 1543, on the left bank of the Jamna, opposite Agrah, near the Chahâr Bâg Villa, which was built by Bâbai This place was later called Hasht Bihisht, or the Bag-1-Nûrafshan, and is now known as Râm Bâg It was here that Shaykh Mubârak's eldest son, Shaykh Faydî's brother, Abul Fadl 'Allâmî, the celebrated Faydî, was born prime minister of Akbar and the author of the Akbar Nâmah, Â'în-i-Akbarî, Maktûbât-1-'Allâmî, Ruq'ât-1-Shaykh Abul Fadl, 'Iyâ1-1-Dân1sh, etc,* was also boin here on the 6th of Muhaiiam, AH 958 = 14th

* According to some, Abul Fadl also wrote a Risâla-i-Munâjât, a Jâmi'-ul-Lugat, and a Kashkûl He also wrote two commentaries, one on the مردة الكرمي, both of which he presented to Akbar He also took a great part in the compilation of the Târîkh-i-Alfî

January Ap 15'1 He was killed by Jahangurs order on Friday the 4th Rabi I An 1011 = 12th August, Ap 1002 Shaykh Mubarak who died at Lihûr on Sunday the 17th Dilqad Au 1001 = 4th September A.p 1593 was an in 6 comprehensive learning. He was well versed in presedy had a complete knowledge of religious lore and was a perfect master of mystic philosophy. He wrote a lag commentary on the Quran in four volumes which he called Manba ul Uyun.

and another work of the title of Jawami ul Kilam موامع Fands as he grow up, displayed unusual gifts. He received from his father a sound education in all branches of learning and soon established his reputation as a poet and scholar. One day Shaykh Mubarak took Fayds to Abd un Nabi the then Sadr s Jahan and begged a grant of one hundred bighas of land. But both the father and the son on account of their unorthodox doctrines were turned out of the audience-hall with scorn and insult. Laydis literary fame had already reached the cars of Akhar and in AH 975 = AD 1562 when this emperor was besieging the fort of Chitor he summoned Faydi then barely twenty years old The Sunni Ulamas who were Taydes mortal enemies interpreted the uniterial order as a citation for defence and persuaded the governor to set a guard over the dwelling of Shaykh Mubirak The Mugal soldiers tormented and ill treated the Shaykh who happened to be alone in the house Sharkh Tayda was alsent just then and on his return was arrested and carried off to Chitor by the Tayda of course was greatly dismaved by this ominous event, but to his unexpected relief he g t a most farourable reception from Akbar to whom he was presented by Aziz khan kokah Shortly afterwards Tayda was attached to the impopul court as teacher in the higher branches of literature to the princes-a fact which speaks of the great confidence which the emperor placed in the young scholar Tayda had no difficulty in gaining the lasting friendship of Akbar, Besides being distinguished for his literary attainments his services in other departments secured fresh distinctions for him. He enjoyed the personal friendship of Akhar at I athpur Sil ri and occasionally accom panied the emperor on his expeditions. In A ii 989 = A D 1581 he was appointed the Sadr of Agrah Lulpi and Lulinjar and in A ii 1000 = a D 1591 was sent on an embassy to Rajah Alı of the Decean Although a commander of only Four Hundred he had greater influence than most of the higher officials Activities inding the hostile attitude of the Ulamas who had very great influence with the government Paydi in A H 981 = A D 15/4 admitted into court his brother Abul Fadl who as we know rose to be the prime minister of Akbar and took an important part in crushing the power of the Ulamas and in alienating the emperor s mind from Islam n the company of Faydî for forty years, and once, when the said historian was in temporary disgrace at court, Faydî (then in Ahmadâbâd), on the 10th of Jamâdî I, A ii 1000 = A d 1591, wrote a letter (quoted in Badâ'unî, vol iii, p 303) to Akbar, in which the poet spoke highly of Badâ'unî and earnestly begged the emperor to deal mercifully with the learned historian Badâ'unî frankly admits the good treatment he received at the hands of Faydî, but, bitterly condemning the foul part which Faydî played in weakening the power of the 'Ulamâs and in leading the emperor's mind away from Islâm, the said historian, on the plea of the good of the faith being stronger than other claims, on the plea of the good of the faith being stronger than other claims, and in leading the emperor's mind away from Islâm, the said historian, on the plea of the good of the faith being stronger than other claims, and in leading the emperor's mind away from Islâm, the said historian, on the plea of the good of the faith being stronger than other claims, and in leading the emperor's mind away from Islâm, the said historian, on the plea of the good of the faith being stronger than other claims, and in leading the emperor's mind away from Islâm, the said historian, on the plea of the good of the faith being stronger than other claims, and in leading the emperor's mind away from Islâm, the said historian, on the plea of the good of the faith being stronger than other claims, and in leading the emperor's mind away from Islâm, the said historian of the control of the good of the faith being stronger than other claims, and in leading the emperor's mind away from Islâm, the said historian of the good of the faith being stronger than other claims, and in leading the emperor's mind away from Islâm, the said historian of the good of the faith being stronger than other claims.

The scene of the poet's death, as described by this historian, is calculated to excite loathing Faydî's contemporary biographers, such as the authors of the Tabaqât-1-Akbarî, Maâşir-1-Rahîmî, 'Urafât, Haft Iqlîm, and several others, speak highly of his wonderful poetical genius; while Badâ'zinî remarks that, although Faydî spent full forty years in composing poems, numbering above twenty thousand verses, and sent his compositions, at great expense, to his friends, yet, not even one of his verses was approved by the public. This remark of the historian, though a little exaggerated, is partly true, as we know that Faydî, on account of his heretical doctrines, is generally looked down upon by the Muhammadan public of India, and his works do not enjoy the popularity which their literary ments deserve Faydî may have taken a vigorous part with his father (Shaykh Mubârak) and brother (Abul Fadl) in crushing the power of the Sunnî 'Ulamâs and in planning and adopting subtle measures for leading Akbar's mind away from Islâm, but it cannot be denied that he was one of the most voluminous writers that India has produced, and that In literary merit he stands second only to the celebrated Amîr Khusiau of Dihlî, (d Ah 725 = Ad 1324), among all the Indo-Persian poets.

During the reigns of the Timuride sovereigns of India, four poets were honoured with the title of (king of poets), viz Gazâlî of Mashhad, who died in A H 980 = A D 1572, Faydî (both of Akbar's time), Tâlib-i-Âmulî (d A H 1035 = A D 1625) in Jahângîr's time, and Tâlib-i-Kalîm (d A H 1062 = A D 1651) in Shâh Jahân's reign, but the second stands unrivalled Although Akbar, an illiterate prince according to all the evidence we possess, had little inclination towards poetly, yet, on account of his constant association and conversation with distinguished scholars and eminent poets, he could appreciate the complehensive learning of Faydî, and towards the end of A H 997 = A D 1588 deservedly honoured him with the title of Faydî was a profound scholar in the Alabic, Persian, and Sanskrit literatures and stood unrivalled in his age in theology history philology philosophy medicine and letter writing while his high poetical compositions afford a further proof of the versatility of Ilis genius Besides translating several Sanskrit worls in poetry and philosophy he made a Persian version of Bhiskaracharya's Bijaganita and Lilawati, the two well known Sansl rit works on Algebra Paydis famous commentary on the Quran entitled Sawati ul Ilham anolded the full title of the of the موارد الكلم and his Mawarid ul Kilam, موارد الكلم work is Mawarid ul Kilam wa Silk u Durar il Hikam Brockl vol ii p 417 wrongly reads Mawarid ul Kalam) both of which consist of only those letters which do not contain discritical points sufficiently speaks of his peculiar genius and extreme insenuity. In Au 993 = AD 1085 he planned a Khamsah consisting of the following five poems in imitation of the Khamsah of Nizumi but did not live to carry it out

(1) Marl az ı Adwaı مركر ادوار ın ımıtatıon of Nızâmı s Makhzan ul Asrar was to consist of 3 000 verses Faydi composed it in the fortieth year of his age (A H 993 = A D 1585) and two years after his death his brother Abul Padl collected the stray leaves of the poem It is mentioned in Leyden Cat vol ii p 122 and Sprenger Oude Cat (2) Sulayman u Bilgis in imitation of Khusiau u Shirin was to consist of 4000 verses (3) Nal Daman (see below) (4) Haft hishwar and (5) Albar Namah each of 5 000 verses in imitation of the Haft Paylar and the Sikandar Namah Except Nal Daman the other poems of the Khamsah were left incomplete. Extracts from these poems are given in the Akbar Namah vol iii pp 674-696

The author of the Riyah udn Shu ara says that Paylu was a pupil of Khwajah Husayn Sana i Maghhadi who died in AH 996 = AD 1587 (see No 249 above) but Faydı's contemporary biographers do not make any such statement Taydı is said to have been the author of one hundred and one books and his verses are estimated by Abul Fadl at fifty thousand but Bada uni estimates them only at twenty thousand The same Bada uni tells us that Paydi left a library of 4 600 books (but according to Blochmann 4300 books) most of which were authors autographs or at least copied by their contemporaries and that after the death of Faydı these books were transferred to the imperial library after being catalogued in three different sections The first consisted of poetry medicine astrology and music the second philosophy Sufism astronomy and geometry and the third consisted of commentaries traditions theology and law For forty years the poet employed the poetical title of Fayd, which he subsequently changed to Fayyad, in imitation of his brothers Takhallus Allami but only a month or two before his death To the change of his title the poet refers thus in his Nal Daman -

زی سس که سکه ام سی بود مسی رقم نگین من بود اکنون که سدم نفسی مرناص فناصتم از مصط مناص

Faydî suffered from asthma, and died on the 10th of Safar, A H 1004 = 15th October, AD 1595. In the middle of the night on which Faydî died, Akbar took Hakîm Gîlânî and went to see the poet. The emperor addressed the poet several times, but getting no reply he was overwhelmed with grief, so much so that he cast his turban on the ground. The târîkh of the poet's death is مال المالة على المالة المال

NAL U-DAMAN

Faydı's famous Maşnawı better known as Nal Duman ın ımıtatıon of Nızımı's Layla u Majnûn

It is a free Persian adaptation of the episode of Nala and Damayanti in the Mahabharata Regarding the origin of the poem Tirishtah vol 1 p 325 gives us the following account —

در ک هدد که بس اربی به بحیرار سال که ه ، سده مسطور ا که مدیم الانام سهر بدر بای تحب رانان دکی بود و راحه بهم سس که بغایب سطع و دانا و عادل و صحی بود از رایان مسهور سهر بدر ا و راحه لل ساه مالوهی خانبانه بر دحر راحه بهم سس که دس نام داست عاسق سده بحث عاسقی و معسویی اسان در هدوستان مسهور است و ست فسص ساعر بنومه حکم حلال الدین محمد اکبر بادشاه ست فسص ساعر بنومه حکم حلال الدین محمد اکبر بادشاه

This is the third poem of Faydis Khamsah which the poet had planned in Air 993 = AD 1585 but did not live to carry out

Beginning of the poem -

ای در تا و نوی تو ر آغار عمقای نظر بلمد بروار

Abul Fadl in his Akbar Asmah vol in pp 661-662 says that in the thirty minth year of the reign Akbar asked Faydi to complete the Khamsah or the five poems to each of which he had already written an introduction and pressed the poet particularly to finish the Nai Daman first of all Faydi thus in the forty minth year of his age completed the book in the short space of four months and presented it to the emperor with a few ashrafis in an 1003 = ad 1594

In the epilogue the poet himself says that he completed the poem at the age of forty-nine, in the thirty-nin'th year of the emperor's reign, i.e., A H 1003

اکون که حل و بهم درین دیر مهم درین دیر مهم درین دیر مهماد و دو سعه کردهام سر . . . . دید این ب کارکاه آدر سراسنکی ساهٔ آدر مهم آر مخلوس ساهی تاریح محدد الاهی حون سال عرد ، سمار کردم اله ، و سه اله ، بکار بردم

Di Rieu, p 670<sup>b</sup>, probably following Abul Fadl (loc cit), says that the poem consists of 4,000 verses, but in the following verses the poet himself says that in giving the round number (4,000) he has left over the odd number. So Bada'unî, vol 11, p. 396, who calculates the number at 4,200 odd, seems to be more precise.

ای حار هرار کوهر ناه ، کانگنصه ام ناتسی آه ، سدیر که آه ، کوهر تس ، ' ار بهر نبار افسر تسب '' کریسسری نبار کردم نبی کسر در و شمار کردم

Of all the works of Faydî the Nal-Daman has gained the widest popularity. Even Badâ'unî, who bears a bitter hatred to the poet, admits that, after the death of Amîr Khusrau, no poet in India, for the last three hundred years, has composed a Masnawî like the Nal-Daman

و الدن مسوئی سے که درین سبحد سال مل آن بعد از مبر حسرو ساید در ه لد کسی دیگر نگفته باسد

Lithographed in Calcutta, 1831, Lucknow, A H 1263, a part of the Masnawî is printed in Spiegel's Christomathia Persica, Leipzig, 1846, pp 131-150

APPENDIX

In view of the interest attaching to the valuable copy of Mirza Kamran's diwan noticed in the present volume it has been judged fitting to give a brief sketch of his political and literary activities in the form of an appendix—such a sketch having no proper place in the body of the Catal gue

Regarding Mirza Kamran though there is very little evidence of his being an Arabic scholar there is not the least doubt that he was an accomplished scholar in both Persian and Turki and he at the same time possessed an extraordinary genius for poetical composition. The sublimity of his ideas the harmonious flow of his style and the delicacy of his poetic imagination give him a high position in the Persian Parnassus. After the death of Babar Kamran received Kibul Qandhar and the Punjab as Jagir from Humayin with whom he lived in peace and to whom as a token of gratitude he occasionally sent panegyripoems. One of these poems beginning with the line—

هس نو دمندم افرون نادا طالعت فرح و منتون نادا

and ending --

کامواں نا کہ حہانراس*ت* نقا حسوو دہر ہمانوں نادا found on fol 1 of the diwan is quoted in the Albar Namah vol 1 p 125. The author of the Haft Iqlim says that Humryfin was so pleased with the above Gazal that he gave the district of Hisari I iruzah as a reward to Kumran (see also Mirat ul Âlam fol 465). The prince was also wonderfully skilful in extemporizing verses suitable to occasions. When after his flight from Humayun he went to take shelter under Salim Shah that chief treated the prince like a menial and taunted him saicastically. One day when Salîm Shâh asked Kâmiân for a veise, the prince extemporized thus —

See Badâ'unî 1, p. 390

On another occasion, when Ealîm Shâh put Kâmiân's knowledge to the test by repeating three couplets of different poets, the prince, to the astonishment of the chief, replied that the first couplet was the composition of a Mugal of Tiâq, the second, of a poet of India, and the third, of an Afgân poet See Elliot's Hist of India, vol. iv, p 498 Kâmiân wás also endowed with a wonderful memory and could eite verses to suit encumstances on the spur of the moment

When his eyes were put out he entreated Humâyûn, through Mun'ım Khân, to grant him the services of Beg Mulûk (a favourite of the prince) When Beg Mulûk was sent by Humâyûn, Kâmrân placed on his eyes both the hands of his favourite, and mournfully recited the following verse

هر حد که حسم برحت برده کسید اس ، ساست بهسی که سی روی تو دید اس ،

See Akbai Nâmâh, vol 1, p 329

Again, on the eve of his departure for Mecca, when his brother Humâyûn came to bid kun farewell, after showing due reverence to the emperor, he humbly repeated this verse

کالهٔ گوسهٔ درویس برملک ساید که سانه همتو نو ساهی مگند نو سر او and then again he recited -

ىر ھاىم ار نو ھر ھە رسد ھاي مىت اس ، ِ گر ناوك ھا ست وگر حمر سنم

See Akbai Nâmah, vol 1, p 330

From a scored-out passage (not to be found anywhere else) on p 319 of the unique and valuable Bilgrânfî MS, which seems to be a browllon or rough draft of the first volume of the Akbar Nâmah, and which shows the original condition of this well known history of

Abul Fadl it will be seen that Kamran when he was delivered up by Sultan Adam addressed an ode to the emperor Humayan See Jourl Roy As See January 1903 pp 115-122 where this valuable Bill ram MS is mentioned

Kamran was a constant source of danger to the government and spent almost his whole life in raising disturbances. The events of his life have been copiously dealt with by the historians of Inda but in a scattered form. I therefore give a summary of the whole history of his life.

On the death of Mirza Toian son of Sultan Mahmud Mirza Babar placed Humay an on the throne of Padakhshan where he reigned from AH 926-935 = AD 1519-1528 When Babar subduct Hindustan he recalled Humâyûn in A ii 930 = A D 1528 and left Kâmran Mirzâ in Qandhar On hearing the news of Babar's death (A H 937 = A D 1030) Lamran left in his place his brother Mirza Askari and set off for India to get hold of Lahar After playing some tricks upon Mir Yanus the governor of Lahar Kamran tool posse suon of the tity and appointed his own men over the Parganas of the Punjah, He assured Humayan that he was doing everything with a good motive and the emperor in return recognized him as the governor of Kabul Quadhar and the Punjab Being suspicious of Askari Kamran removed him from the government of Qandhar and gave it to hhwajah Kalan Beg one of the best and most faithful generals of the emperor Babar Now Sim Mirza (whose well known work the Juhfa i Simi has been often referred to in this catalogue) son of Shah Isma il Safawi marched against Qandhar and besieged the fort persistently for eight months Kamran then marched to Qandhar and after defeating Sim Virza (who went to Iraq) returned to Lahar Stah lahmasp now murched against Khwaith Kalan Beg with an ow rwhelming force to avenge his brother Sam Mirza and the Khwajih who had sustained a sic_e of eight months being unable to encounter Shah Tahmasp evacuated Oandhur and set off for Juhur The Shah leaving the city in charge of his nobles proceeded to Iraq Kamran returned to Qandhar and the nobles of Shah Tahmasp not being in a position to cope with the prince gave up the fort and retreated to Iraq

In AH 948 = AD 1036 when Humay in proceeded to Bengal against Shir Khan Afgan Mirza Hindal the fourth son of Babri inflyenced by some ill advisers set himself up against Humay in Amirza on his return from Qandhar to Lahar heard of the rebellion of Mirza Hindal in Agra and of the rise of Shir Khan Resolving to secure Agra for himself Kamran marched towards the city and on his arrival Hindal went away to Alwar Humayan recoived this news with grut distress and after 1 severe loss which he suffered owing to a treacherous attack by Shir Khan arrived at Agra with Mirza 'Askari and only a few horsemen Humay in unexpectedly entered the pavilion of Kamran and the two brothers received each other with great affection. Humâyûn pardoned the faults of Mirzî Hindâl and the three brothers now (A H 946 = A D 1539) assembled and took counsel against Shîr Khân Kâmrân was anxious' to return to Lâhûr, and Humâyûn, while accepting all the other propositions of the prince, disagreed with him on this point. In the meantime Kâmrân became seriously ill and started for Lâhûr. He had promised to leave a considerable force at Âgia to assist his brother, but in spite of this promise he left only a few men in the city under the command of Sikandar.

After the battle between Shir Khan and Humayan, in which the latter sustained a severe defeat, Milza Kâmian rebelled again and meditated marching on Kâbul In the meantime Humâyûn, after suffering great haidships, proceeded to Qandhar, but hearing that Miiza Kâmrân and Muzâ 'Askarî were plotting to make him a pusoner, he set out for 'Irâq, and, after travelling through many cities, came to Qandhar . Here he collected a great force and proceeded to take possession of Kabul from Kamran The prince also marched out to fight his brother, but it so happened that every day numbers of soldiers and officers deserted Kâmiân and joined Humâyûn prince lost his courage and asked his brother's forgiveness. Humây ûn promised it on condition of his making submission, but Kâmrân did not agree to this, and shut himself up in the fort of Kabul while all his soldiers joined Humâyûn Kâmrân then fled to Gaznî, but, being refused admission into the city by the governor, he went to Shah Husayn Argûn, whose daughter he mariled When Humâyûn was engaged in wai with Sulayman Mirza in Badakhshan, Kamian, seizing his opportunity, assembled a strong force and marched to Kâbul When he entered the city, the officers whom Humâyûn had left in charge of it were quite unprepared Kâmiân slew most of them and appointed his own men to guard Humâyûn's ladies and the young Akbar, who was then about four years old On hearing the news Humâyûn hastened back towards Kâbul Kûmiân, collecting all the forces he could, sent two of his generals, Shîr Âlî and Shîn Afgân, to stop the progress of Humayan, but they were repeatedly repulsed by the imperial troops, and the emperor at last reached the suburbs of Kâbul Shîr Afgân then marched against Humâyûn at the head of all the forces of Kâmiân, but after a severe fight this general was defeated, taken prisoner, and put to death. It happened that a caravan with a large number of horses arrived in the vicinity of Kâbul, and Kâmrân sent Shîr 'Alî with a large force to bring these horses into the city Humayan being informed of this movement diew nearer to the city and closed all the means of ingress and egress, so that Shîr 'Alî on his ietuin could find no way to enter the city Kâmrân now endeavoured to cut a way through for Shîn 'Alî, but was driven back, by the imperial force. In this state of affairs most of the trusted officers of Kamrap deserted him and joined Humayan then adopted a very cowardly course He ordered the young Albar to be exposed on the battlements to the musket and gunshots but Providence saved the future sovereign of India People now flocked to the help of Humayun and he received reinforcements from Badakhshan Qandhar and many other places So Kamran lost heart and sued for peace Humay an granted it on condition of his submitting in person but Lamran was afraid to do this Humayun prepared to assault the fort of Kabul and the chiefs of the Chapta : tribe being informed of Humayan's plan advised Kamran to leave the fort without delay Then Kamran after killing many chiefs with whom he was offended made his way barefooted out of the fort. Humayan sent one Haji Muhammad Khan in pursuit and when he had nearly overtaken the prince the latter exclaimed that he had killed the Hajis fither the Han came back without making any further attempt reaching the foot of the mountains of Kabul Kamran was attacked and plundered by a party of Haziris who afterwards on recognising the prince conducted him to his adherent Shir Ali Here he remained for about a week till he was joined by nearly 150 horsemen. With this small force Kamran marched against Gun and after defeating the governor whose horses and asses fell into his hands he went to Balkh where he met Pir Muhammad Khan the ruler This ruler came to Radakhehan to the assistance of the prince Miny soldiers began to join hamran and he was now strong enough to march against Sulay of in Mirza and Ibrahim Mirza These Mirzas having no power to resist Kamran The prince established his authority left Talikan and went to Kolib over many parts of Badakhshan In the metatime Karracha Khan and some other nobles who had vainly requested Humay un to accept some of their proposals now revolted again s the emperor and set off to join Kamran at Badakhshan Humayan then made preparations to march against these conspirators and sent orders to Mirza Hindal Sulayingh Mirza and Ibrahim Mirza Kamran sent Shir Ali against Mirzi Hindâl but he was taken prisoner by the prince and brought before Humayan who with his usual compassion not only pardoned Shir Ali but made a grant to him of Guri Kamrin leaving Karracha Khan and others at Kisham went to Tilikan Prince Hindal was sent against Karracha Khan but at the nest charge the prince s troops were descated Humayan then marched against Kamran but the prince seeing that he was not in a position to encounter the emperor returned to Tulikan This place was shortly afterwards invested by the emperor who had been joined by Sulayman Mirza Kamran then sought the assistance of the Uzbeks but he was blankly refused Having no other course Kamran then requested Humayan to allow him to go to Mecca and the emperor agreed to it on condition that the prince sent the rebellious chiefs to the royal court Kamr in sent all the chiefs to Humay in with the exception of one or two, and all of them, once more received the forgiveness of the emperor Kâmian now proceeded out of the fort, but after going a very short distance he became very much ashamed of his misconduct and resolved to pay allegiance to the emperor Humâyûn, on learning this, was greatly pleased, and oldered a ceremonial reception of his brother Humâyûn received Kâmrân with great pleasure, and gave him the ensigns of sovereignty After some days Kâmiân also received Kolâb as Jâgîr from the emperor . Now when Humayan had left Kabul and was marching against Balkh, he summoned Mirza Kamfan and Mirza 'Askarî along with others, but these two brothers rebelled again, and would not come to pay then homage Mirzâ Kâmrân was staying at Kolâb, when Châkar 'Alî Beg, who was hostile to the pince, attacked the city with a large force Kâmrân sent Mirzâ 'Askarî twice against him, but 'Askarî was repeatedly defeated Now Milza Sulayman and Mırzâ Ibiâhîm were sent against Kâmrân, and not being able to oppose fnem, he retreated to Rostak On the way he was plundered by a party of the Uzbeks Kâmrân then intended to proceed to Hazâra by way of Bâmîân and Zohâk, but Karrâcha Khân and some other treacherous nobles of Humâyûn's court sent messages to Kâmrân advising him to take the road to Zohâk, and promised that they would help him against the emperor Humâyûn, who was informed of Kâmrân's movements, had already sent a force to Zohâk and Bâmîân to protect the country When the two armies diew near each other, Karıâcha Khân and others descrited Humâyûn and joined Kâmrân, who, thus strengthened, gave battle A desperate fight followed, and Humâyûn, being severely wounded, made his way out of the fight Kâmrân took possession of Kêbul once more

After some time Humâyûn, Laving been joined by Milza Sulaymân, Mırzâ İbrâhîm and Hındâl Mırzâ, maiched against Kâbul On his way he was met by Kâmian, and a battle ensued in which Kâmran, being defeated, took to flight Karrâcha was taken prisoner and put to death. A body of soldiers now left the emperor and joined Kâmrân, and the prince collected a force of about 15,000 horse Humâyûn marched to stop Kâmrân's progress, but the prince ieticated towards Sind After Humâyûn's return to Kâbul, Kâmrân, supported by the Afgâns; advanced again and the emperor once more marched against his brother In the meantime Hâjî Muhammad Khân, one of Humâyûn's generals who had come to Gaznî without the emperor's leave, sent messages to Kâmiân, advising him to come to Gaznî and promising to help him But before Kâmrân's arrival, Bairâm Khân reached the city by Humâyûn's order and compelled the Hâjî to go with him to Kâbul Thus disappointed Kâmrân retreated to Peshâwar Milzâ 'Askaiî was banished to Balkh By the help of the Afgâns Kâmiân raised a gieat force again, and Humâyûn marched against him once more In the course of a night attick which Lumran made on Humijan's camp Mirza Hindal was killed Owing to the continuous compaigns of Hum is an against the Afhi ne they could no longer protect hamrin and he at last took refuge with Silim Shah Afr in on of Shir Shah the mortal enemy of the Mu, al kings Salim Shah however treated the prince like a menial and annoyed him in various ways and was preparing to imprison him in some castle when one day Kamrat cleverly managed to escape in Alaguise. He then sought shelter with some of the Hinda Rajus but all of them were afraid of Kamran s enemies and refused to help him At Mankat he was nearly taken prisoner but disguising himself in a woman's garb he made his escape to Sialkot and thence to Sultan Adam Ghakar who surrendered the prince to the emperor Hum of an The emperor with his usual compassion and brotherly feeling wanted to overlook the grave fulls of his brother but the majority of the chiefs and nobles were dead against Kamran and they obtained an order of death signed, by enunent jurists and d ctors of the Muhammadan law. The king still having regard for his brother did not agree to kill him but ordered his eyes to be put out.
